LOWELL TO THE FRONT IN LIBERTY BOND SALE

The third day of Lowell's second Liberty bond campaign brought the cheering news that at least $100,000 has been raised so far in the campaign. It is possible when the day's full report is in that this figure will be doubled and perhaps tripled. But the Union National bank through its cashier, John P. Sawyer, assured the campaign committee this forenoon that that institution alone has received a hundred thousand dollars' worth of subscriptions.

What the other banks have done will not be known until this evening when the first report to the Federal Reserve bank in Boston will be made. The committee expects that the $200,000 figure at least will be reached.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The government today advanced Belgium another $2,000,000 in addition to previous loans of $7,500,000 a month for six months and a special loan made some time ago of $4,900,000.

YOU NEED DYS-PEP-LETS—GET THEM TODAY

You will be delighted with them. They are the best thing for dyspeptic troubles—sour stomach, wind in the stomach, heartburn and nausea—that has ever been offered. They are de-sugar-coated tablets, and do their good work with a promptness that is really remarkable.

Dys-pep-lets are economical, too—a twenty-five cent bottle containing 50 and a dollar bottle 300. There is an attractive aluminum pocket box for 10c.

Chaffoux's "A FABLE"

The other day the writer happened to hear the following story: "A leopard once met a lion down by the water hole in the jungle and said, 'Why do you go about the jungle roaring the way you do?'"

The lion said, "I believe in advertising. If I had not been for my advertising, I would never have been made the king of the beasts. It pays to advertise and I never fail to grasp an opportunity to do it."

It so happened that a rabbit, who was crouching in some weeds nearby, heard this conversation and appreciated the logic of the thing. Next day as he was nibbling at a big tree he filled his lungs, threw back his head and let out what he expected to be a roar. It resulted in a high-pitched squeal. A fox happened to be on the other side and hearing the squeal, went around to investigate. As a result he ate the rabbit."

Now the moral of this fable is, in fully to advertise if you don't have the goods. Our advertisement plays true. It will pay you to read them.

Shipments to Sweden, Norway, Denmark and The Netherlands Barred

Important Move Will Slowly But Surely Kill Military Power of Germany

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Great Britain's new embargo on shipments of practically everything to Sweden, Norway, Denmark and The Netherlands, is regarded here as a most important move in tightening the cordon which slowly but surely is killing the military power of Germany.

Coming close on the export embargo of the United States which is being administered to keep from the European neutrals everything that might supply the central powers, Great Britain's action is regarded as one of the most important of the war.

As the British embargo excludes everything except printed matter about the only thing that will be permitted to go to the German people by way of the neutrals will be expressions of world opinion that they should reorganize their system of government to do away with the military autocracy.

In a figurative sense, Great Britain holds one end of the rope and the United States holds the other. Gradually but surely as it is being drawn taut, the military power of Germany is being strangled because the embargo cuts off the supplies she has been receiving through the adjacent neutrals.

British Will Bomb Germany With Compound Interest Says Lloyd George

Reprisals for German Raids on England Soon to Be Launched — French Reprisals Already Under Way — German Town of Baden Raided

"We shall bomb Germany with compound interest," Premier Lloyd George is quoted in the London press as declaring in a London crowd in promising that Great Britain would soon launch reprisals for the many German air raids on England.

French Raids Baden
The French reprisals already under way were continued last night. French airmen dropped bombs on the town of Baden, some 55 miles beyond the French border. More than seven tons of bombs also were dropped on various military objectives in German-held territory.

Artillery Duels
Along the French front the artillery duels were vigorous at many points. The activity was especially marked north of Verdun, where the French are apparently preparing an attack to recover a few French elements which the crown prince's troops retained when their main attacking force was thrown back north of Hill 344 yesterday. A German attempt to attack east of Rheims was broken up by the French artillery.

German Lines Under Fire
Field Marshal Haig's dispatches from the Flanders front again have become laconic, their only recent break in their terseness and brevity having been in the messages describing the furious German counter-attacks which failed to shake the British hold on the ground won last week. Today the British commander merely records the continuation of reciprocal artillery activity east of Ypres. The latest press advices from the front, however, indicate that the British bombardment is being kept up with the greatest intensity, hundreds of big guns deluging the German positions with high explosive shells, reaching far to the rear and covering the approach to the German lines by their fire.

Conflict in Russia
The Russian democratic congress at Petrograd, which the government has not recognized as an official body after adopting a resolution favoring a coalition government virtually reversed itself by voting the exclusion of the bourgeois elements of the population. The supporters of the Korniloff revolt and the constitutional democratic party were especially instanced for exclusion.

Plans for Reprisals
LONDON, Oct. 3.—That the British government contemplates some new and effective steps to counteract German air raids on England is borne out in speeches made by Maj. Gen. Sir Francis Lloyd, director of the defenses of London, and Dr. Christopher Addison, former minister of munitions, at a meeting in the London district yesterday, called to discuss the recent raids. Dr. Addison remarked that the Germans had got the start of humanity in their different forms of ruthlessness such as sinking unarmed ships with submarines and bombing open towns, but he added: "I can tell you this: We have got the mastery of the submarine menace and I am perfectly confident that before long we shall achieve just as great a supremacy over their own."

Dr. Addison asked the country to have patience while the military authorities were working out a scheme for the raids.

Gen. Lloyd also referred to the improvement in the defenses. He said this did not concern him as a military man who only acts under orders, but added:

"If you desire reprisals you must let the authorities know and they shall be glad to convey your intentions to the proper quarter."

Wait Opportunity Moment
LONDON, Oct. 3.—The Evening Standard states "on the highest authority" that the government is paying special attention to the question of reprisals for German air attacks on London and other places. It says:

"There is no qualification about the decision of the government to undertake very effective reprisals at the earliest moment consistent with the advice of the high military command."

The Wilhelmshaven Tageblatt publishes two pages of advice warning the people against possible air raids by the enemy aviators.

The London press is becoming strongly critical of the government on the subject of the air raids. Several official explanations that the British cannot spare machines for reciprocal raids are questioned by the Northcliffe newspapers. The Daily Express and others which point out that the Germans are able to spare aircraft for raiding England and have enough along the Pacific lines to give the British a constant fight for supremacy in the air fighting front.

It is argued that the Germans evidently have outbuilt the British in aircraft and are expected to continue building on an increasing scale and improve the types of their machines while the British are trying to catch up with them. Predictions that this would be the case were made by some of the newspapers and by experts like Lord Montagu of Beaulieu months ago.

Lord Montagu also predicts that the Germans soon will pass the experimental stage of operations and be able to attack London in all kinds of weather nearly every night.

Several theatres which advertised performances last night withdrew them at the last moment, mainly because of the handful of people appeared.

Others went through their performances in the presence of a few persons, but removed those in the galleries to the ground floor.

There has been a big influx of people into towns outside of London since the recent moonlight air raids and at many places difficulty at first was found in providing accommodations for the visitors. During the first few nights many of the poorer people who emigrated from the metropolis slept in the open but since then the authorities have made arrangements for sleeping quarters for them in public buildings.

The shopkeepers in the town have done a thriving business, many of them having disposed of all their stocks of provisions.

Most of the people return to London after daybreak each morning, thus causing a big crush on suburban trains.

The official statement on last night's raid reports the casualties in all districts:

Killed, 10; injured, 55.
Bombs were dropped in the southwestern district of London during last night's raid. One of them struck the pavement in a small square and another fell in the rear of some working class dwellings, smashing windows. When the warning of the raid was given the occupants of all these houses took shelter in the basement of a nearby school, thus escaping injury.

An official statement issued yesterday on aerial operations says:

"In the air raids of the last eight days all of our pilots have landed safely."

To Bomb Germany
LONDON, Oct. 3.—A crowd of poor people in the southern district of London yesterday appealed to Premier Lloyd George, says the Daily Mail for reprisals against Germany for the air raids on London. The premier's shout to the crowd: "We will give it all back to them and we will give it to them soon. We shall bomb Germany with compound interest."

The crowd cheered the promise of the premier wildly. The premier had just completed a tour of the area damaged in the raids with Viscount French, commander of the home forces.

WAR TAX BILL GOES TO WILSON FOR APPROVAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Final enactment of the war tax bill, the greatest single revenue raising measure in American history, awaited today only approval of President Wilson. Congress' work on the bill ended late yesterday when the senate after adopting the conference report on the measure rushed it over to the public printer. The conference report already had been adopted by the house.

The engrossed bill was ready today for the signatures of Vice President Marshall and Speaker Clark, after which it goes to the president for signature. Presidential approval is expected to follow immediately.

Senate approval of the conference report was given without a roll call and after short debate during which a few senators criticized certain features, including the second class postage increases. The measure, which has been in the making for more than four months, is designed to raise $2,534,870.

000 of revenue, chiefly by increased levies upon incomes and war excess profits.

New taxes in the bill become effective when the president signs it, except certain specified rates.

The one-cent letter and postcard tax becomes operative in 1918 and the second class mail increases July 1.

New income and war excess profits taxes are based on income of the 1917 calendar year, and payable before May 31, 1918.

All stamp taxes, including those on parcel post packages, become effective Dec. 1. Amusement admissions and taxes on motor cars become effective July 1.

Do taxes on freight and passenger transportation, sleeping car, drawing room and steamship berths, pipe line transportation, insurance of policies and telegraph and telephone messages costing 15 cents or more.

The war bill was signed by Speaker Clark and Vice President Marshall shortly after noon and was sent at once to the White House.

Business had made him one of the most popular members of the staff. He was employed as a typewriter operator and was considered an expert workman.

Mr. Cotter had abundant experience in the newspaper line, shortly after being graduated from the Bartlett school he accepted a position with the Courier-Citizen company in the composing department of the paper.

He remained there for five years and then went to the Lawrence Sun-American. After a successful career on that paper he became a member of The Sun in composing staff and was employed in this office until last evening.

COTTER BROTHERS JOIN NATIONAL ARMY

Among the young men who are to leave Lowell Friday morning as members of the great National Army are two well known brothers, Frederick A. and Royal H. Cotter, of 19 Oliver street.

The young men are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cotter. They were summoned for examination in division three, passed their tests with flying colors and claimed no exemption. Neither of the young men has had any previous military training nor did they have any interest in things military. But when the call came they were "there."

Frederick Cotter is the elder of the two. He attended the Bartlett grammar school and for the past six years has been employed as chauffeur of the police automobile patrol. His position has made him well known to Lowell people and for a while it will seem strange to see the police auto speeding through the streets without the

U. S. DESTROYER IN COLLISION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—An American destroyer in European waters recently was in collision with a British naval vessel which after taking off the American crew, towed the disabled destroyer safely to port.

In announcing the collision today the navy department said no one was injured aboard the American destroyer and that the vessel has since been repaired and restored to active duty.

An official inquiry developed that the collision was unavoidable, the vessels having come together during a heavy rainstorm. No blame was placed on either the American or the British vessel.

The following official statement was issued:

"An American destroyer, operating in European waters, was severely damaged in a night collision with a British naval vessel. After the accident the British ship stood by, took off a part of the destroyer's crew and towed her into port. No one aboard either ship was injured and the destroyer has since been repaired and returned to active service."

"An investigating board of naval officers found that the accident was due to the fact that the destroyer suddenly emerged from a heavy rainstorm which made her invisible almost up to the moment of collision. It was therefore decided that no blame attached to either vessel."

SAILING VESSEL BEAT U-BOAT

PARIS, Oct. 3.—The minister of marine has commended in navy orders the French sailing vessel Kleber of 227 tons, which on Sept. 7 stood up to a big German submarine off the coast of South Brittany and plied a single gun so well that her opponent retreated after three hours of stirring battle.

Pierre Moineau, the boatswain, who fought the ship after the captain of the Kleber was killed, has been decorated with the Legion of Honor, while the 12 men of the crew, several of whom were wounded, have been given war crosses. Seven members of the crew who particularly distinguished themselves also received the military medal in addition to the war cross.

of the northeastern department, who was present during Mr. Ford's visit, and the generosity of Mr. Ford and called the act "real patriotism."

"I call it the duty of a citizen," returned Mr. Ford. "I believe that every citizen should do his duty in war. Patriotism is only another name for duty. We must all stand back of President Wilson in this way, and help put down sedition and disloyalty. The sooner every citizen does his duty and assists the president in his fight for democracy, the quicker this terrible war will be over. When it will end, nobody can tell. But this we do know; that if we all pull together the war will end sooner than if a lot of us hang back and let somebody else do the preparing and the fighting."

MATHEW TEMPERANCE INSTITUTE BANQUET

A regular meeting of the Mathew Temperance Institute was held last evening in Mathews' hall with President John J. Townsend in the chair. A number of propositions for membership were received and referred. The committee in charge of arrangements for the coming banquet of the organization to be held in honor of Mr. Mathew, October 10th, reported that plans had been completed and that everything was in readiness for the event. A fine list of speakers has been secured and will include May-James E. O'Donnell, Rev. Daniel J. Keeler, Ph. pastor of St. Peter's church; Rev. Patrick L. Crayton, also of St. Peter's church, who will speak on Fr. Mathew; Gen. Gardner W. Pearson, who will choose a timely military topic and others. John W. Sharkey will be toastmaster.

An excellent musical program in conjunction with the banquet has also been arranged. The drawing in the coupon contest which the society has conducted during the past month will be held next Saturday evening. Members are urged to have all their coupons in at that time.

BIG RALLY BY BRITISH RECRUITING MISSION

The British recruiting mission held a rally in Lowell last evening at John and Merrimack streets and got nine recruits.

This number combined with those previously corralled brings Lowell's contributions to the ranks of the Union Jack well over the century mark. Last night's meeting opened at 8 o'clock when Donald Farrington, a Boy Scout, sounded an assembly call. Two thousand people gathered, and William A. Mitchell, chairman of the local British recruiting campaign committee, stood up in his automobile and told why he was there. The sum and substance of his remarks was that the allies wanted more men in the war.

Lieut. W. M. Lynton, in charge of the mission, was the next to get busy and the combination of his ready sense of humor and his inability to pronounce the names of neighboring localities resulted in his winning the crowd easily. He entwined a few stern facts in his remarks, however. He casually reminded his listeners that 165,000 men of the British forces had been killed or wounded last month. Lowell must help replace these men.

The speaker then told of some of the remarkable sacrifices which Lowell people had made in the past week for the allies. Self-sacrifice is the predominant element of the present war. Men of British blood have no right to be anything but self-sacrificing. Lieut. Lynton then asked that volunteers come and shake his hand. Three responded.

Mrs. L. Roberts then sang "Don't Let the Old Flag Fall," and she was very well received. She was followed by J. Joseph Bennessy, who made a really stirring appeal for the cause. After dwelling on the events which led up to America's entrance into the war, he told what Lowell had done in previous wars. He alluded to the Civil war heroes who filled the first block in that memorable conflict. Then he told what Lowell is doing in the present war. Over 2000 men from this city are in the national service and of these every one is a volunteer. With the exception of the 3rd edited in the draft, leaving his conclusions from these facts, he said that he could see no reason why Lowell in a British ideal should not do their proportionate part for the allies.

"It should be considered a privilege for you men to go forward and relieve your brothers who have fought so manfully 'over there.' These final words of the speaker brought a burst of applause from the crowd.

Mrs. Roberts then sang effectively "Keep the Home Fires Burning," and the crowd joined in the chorus.

The next speaker was Sergt. H. L. Nichols. The sergeant is a member of the Second Ontario Battalion and is said to have been in No. Man's Land for 40 hours after being seriously wounded.

The speaker told the crowd that what he thought of it and he didn't count himself to elegant phraseology with which to do it. He said that any man of British blood who stood there and didn't answer his call was a slack. He kept up his bombardment for nearly a half hour and he made a deep impression on the crowd.

Lieut. Lynton came up again and this time he recited Harold Beebe's dramatic poem, "What Will They Say to You, Son?" He then told of the system

THE SPELLBINDER

When Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the lantern years ago she started something without a doubt, for she caused the Chicago fire, one of the greatest conflagrations on record, and out of that fire almost half a century later has developed a national institution known as "Fire Prevention day," when people unite to clear away dirt and rubbish and in other ways guard against fire. Fire Prevention day had its origin on Oct. 9, 1911, the 40th anniversary of the Chicago fire and was rapidly taken up by the states and cities until now nearly every state observes it through some of their cities and towns. In this commonwealth, last year, Boston, Brockton, Cambridge, Newton and Lowell observed Fire Prevention day while other cities observe it this year for the first time. Some cities hold parades with the fire departments in line and floats illustrating the different causes of preventable fires. The national board of underwriters, who are the promoters of Fire Prevention day have issued a special bulletin in reference to the day in which they tell us: "In the nation's crisis Fire Prevention day has a deeper significance than ever before." An article headed "Germany's American Ally," points out that every preventable fire, little or big, is to some degree "an aid and comfort to the enemy." A portion of the article reads as follows:

to produce war time necessities. It waits until the grain in the fields is ripe for harvest, and then destroys it over thousands of acres, or else it bides its time until the harvested crops have been stored in elevators, and obliterates them by the hundreds of thousands of bushels.

The day locally, will be observed in the schools, the members of the fire department assisting, as was done so successfully last year.

One of the features in the Fire Prevention day parade in New York city last year was the representation of a mammoth cigar butt on which was inscribed "1366 fires last year." Underneath was the sign: "Smokers burn more than their smokes when they are careless. The smoke may be enjoyable, but look out for the butt."

Senator Jackson Re-nominated

The Lowell friends of Senator George H. Jackson, of Lynn, a native of Lowell, will be pleased to learn that he has been re-nominated, by no uncertain vote, having carried every one of the 23 precincts in his district. Unfortunately, while the voters of wards 5 and 9 are in a senatorial district which includes one ward in Lynn, it is not the ward or district in which Senator Jackson is a candidate otherwise local republicans would have some satisfaction in voting in the "shoe-string district." Senator Jackson is a well known figure at the state house. Although a republican, he is a strong friend and advocate of labor measures and is a member of the typographical union of Lynn.

Crowds of Soldiers

Over 1500 soldiers came to Lowell from Ayer on Saturday and over 800 on Sunday. These were actually counted. As Saturday was pay day there is no doubt that the soldiers left a considerable amount of money in the city. Practically none of the drafted men now at Ayer have dependents and hence can keep or spend their money as they see fit. Although it is a fact that the licensed places are not selling liquor to the soldiers, some of them showed signs of a too liberal indulgence before they returned to the camp. But as there is no law to stop a civilian from giving liquor to a soldier, it is a difficult, and in fact almost impossible task, to keep liquor away from them unless a law is passed making it an offence to procure for or give liquor to a soldier. Some of the more daring ones, it is suspected, have changed their clothing upon coming here and by wearing civilian attire desired in licensed places, but all uniformed men have been barred. Motorcyclists who wear khaki trousers and leggings state that they have been held up and refused liquor in a number of licensed places in which they have been suspected of being soldiers, which would indicate that the liquor men are keeping a close watch on the boys. Considering the large number of soldiers in town at one time drawn from different cities and towns, and suddenly let loose from military restraint, the men thus far have been well behaved as a general rule. One will always find a few "rough-necks" in so large a crowd but the main body of them have conducted themselves as gentlemen and soldiers while here.

With the library collection just finished and the second library bond campaign just started there has been but little response thus far to Mayor O'Donnell's appeal for a small fund with which to furnish the boys with football and basketball equipment, but no doubt that will be provided within a short time. One Lowell citizen completely fitted out Battery F with such things while they were at Roxford and only asked in return that they keep it secret and not disclose his identity to anybody.

It is to be hoped that the boys who go away on Friday morning will fall into such excellent hands as those who departed a week ago and who are now with the machine gun battalion and the headquarters company. The boys of the former assignment are loud in their praises of Capt. Andrew G. Moffatt, who is their commanding officer. The latter is a resident of Atlantic, a suburb of Quincy, and his father is a well known business man in Quincy, which recalls the fact that another machine gun company commanding officer, who made a host of friends in Lowell, also came from Quincy. Capt. Moffatt, whose command was stationed in Lowell during the early days of the war.

That $8 Head Tax

Several Lowell residents who have been held up on the Canadian border and compelled to pay a head-tax, so-called of $8, in order to get back to their homes, have complained to Mayor O'Donnell, and the latter has communicated with the immigration authorities in an effort to get their money back. Recently his honor received a reply to one of his letters in which his attention was called to the following:

"Immigration law now in force provides a head-tax on all aliens entering the United States to reside permanently and provides further that, in the case of aliens who have entered the United States subsequent to Oct. 1, 1906, and who at the time of entry were not lawfully admitted as an immigrant, they must now pay this head-tax when returning to this country even from a temporary visit."

This would indicate that all those who have come to this country since 1906 must pay a head-tax and if they didn't pay it when coming down for the first time it will be collected from them upon the occasion of their next attempt to cross the border unless they have become citizens in the meantime. Those who cannot have their money back are to be immune from liability to such taxation. It was also stated to the mayor that if a person who has paid a head-tax should desire to return to his country of origin, the head-tax will be refunded. Since the outbreak of the war the immigration officials of both countries are keeping a strict watch upon all who cross the Canadian border and it will be well for all who travel that way to be armed with a letter of identification.

A Busy Office

Monday being the first of the month the city treasurer's office was a veritable hive of industry from 9 in the morning until long after city hall had closed for the day. In addition to the regular routine which keeps several clerks fairly busy at all times $82 signatures were taken and 1200 tax bills were written, which is going to be between state aid costs, pensioners, etc., the $82 signatures were aggregated for the German war has added a couple of hundred names to the list. The recipients are grouped as follows: State aid and soldiers' relief, 298; German war and military aid, 233; outdoor relief, 42; dependent mothers, 133; all others, 96; total, $82.

Departments Hit Hard

The two departments hit hard by the war are the police and the state aid, though the state aid department really maintains a constant activity. The police department gets nothing back. Since the outbreak of the war it has been necessary to keep a large number of additional police on duty in certain quarters and patrol duty where needed, with the result that the expenses of the department will be greatly increased. The estimate submitted at the beginning of the year, the department in all probability will be crippled by the close of the year by reason of the fact that the municipal council cut down the department's appropriation when making up the budget, not giving the department a sufficient amount to conduct it properly under ordinary conditions. The recent explosion at the Goot mills and other happenings since the war started are a fearful object lesson of the need of adequate police protection for the city at this time.

LICENSE BOARD HEARS LIQUOR CASE

A hearing on the complaint of Supt. Welch of the police department that intoxicating liquors were sold in the restaurant of Joseph A. Cayouette & Co., 316 Middlesex and 4 Howard streets, was held by the license commission last night.

The first witness called was Officer Timothy Dwyer, who said he and Officer Palmer visited Mr. Cayouette's saloon about 10 o'clock on the night of September 19th. There were two drunken men standing against the bar. One man was very drunk. He was placed under arrest and at first gave his name as Harry Mixer, later he said his name was Harry Mitchell, and still later said his name was Harry Mander. He claimed to be a waiter at the saloon and the following morning he gave the name of Arthur Michael.

At this point the prosecuting officer tried to bring out testimony relative to what the officer saw before entering the saloon, but the board ruled that out and told the examiner to confine himself to what happened in the saloon.

Continuing with his testimony Officer Dwyer said: "Both men were leaning over the counter; they were drinking beer and the man we afterwards arrested was unsteady on his feet, and he staggered in his speech. When he got outside we questioned him and he staggered all the way to the box."

On cross-examination witness said he had visited the saloon on various occasions since he was appointed to the liquor squad. He thought he might have called at the place three or six times a week, sometimes twice a day. On nearly every occasion he found Mr. Cayouette present and so far as he could observe the respondent was conducting his business in a proper manner.

On the night of the 19th, witness said there were about 30 people in the place. The two men referred to were standing against the bar and drinking out of small glasses. Officer Dwyer said that for the purpose of talking to the men and also to show them to the proprietor, witness admitted the only conversation he had with the men was when he said "Come over here. They made no answer. Mr. Cayouette's attention was called to the men and he said that if he had seen them come in he would not allow them to be in the saloon. The witness then said he did not think the men were very bad."

The man walked across the floor and out through the door leading into Howard street and when he reached the street he was placed under arrest. The man said that he resided at 22 Middlesex street had just come back from the woods.

Counsel for the defense then put Officer Dwyer through a rigid cross-examination.

George B. Palmer, who accompanied Officer Dwyer, said he and Officer Dwyer entered the saloon through the Howard street door and they went in with two men who were standing at the bar. Both were drunk. Officer Palmer said that he took the glass of beer away from the man who gave the name of Mixer, while Officer Dwyer took the glass which the other man had in his hand. Witness said that he spoke to Mr. Cayouette and he later said to him: "If I had seen those men they would not have been served." He also said to witness: "You have often seen me put men out of the saloon who were not nearly as bad as these are."

Officer Palmer said that he had had occasion to visit Mr. Cayouette on several occasions, but that in his opinion Mr. Cayouette was trying to conduct the business in his saloon in a proper manner.

Officers Thomas O'Sullivan and Fravel testified that the man who was arrested was drunk.

Officer Thomas B. Atkinson said he saw the man who was arrested. The man gave his name as Michael and was drunk. He said he had come down from the wards the day before. The man spoke in broken English and said he lived some place in Middlesex street.

THE DEFENCE

The first witness for the defence was Joseph A. Cayouette, the respondent, who said that he had been the owner of the saloon at the corner of Middlesex and Howard streets for the past three years. He had never appeared before the license commission on any complaint previous to the present time and spent the greater part of the time in the saloon. Since the opening of the saloon at Ayer he said he was especially vigilant and ejected as many as forty people a day when they might have been ejected. He always stopped every person who was intoxicated from being served any kind of drink. He had warned his clerks not to serve drink to any intoxicated person.

Relative to the night of the arrest, witness said that Officers Palmer and Dwyer called his attention to two men who were standing at the bar. The officers said that the men were drunk, but he would not consider them intoxicated.

On cross-examination Mr. Cayouette said he had been in the liquor business for twenty years and he did not consider that either of the men were drunk. He said that one of the men gave him a drink and that he did not think of it as a drink.

Although there were a number of witnesses summoned to appear for the defense, at the conclusion of Mr. Cayouette's cross-examination counsel for the defence rested his case.

After arguments had been made the work took the matter under advisement.

BASEMENT

PROF. CELL TALKS PHASES OF WAR

Before the Lowell Congregational Club at Its Annual Meeting

The first meeting of the season of the Lowell Congregational club was held last night at the Pawtucket church and the members turned out in large numbers and listened to an interesting discourse on "Protestantism in the Light of Present Day Nationalism" by Prof. George C. Cell, Ph.D., of Boston University School of Theology.

Rev. E. C. Bartlett, chosen president of the club to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Rev. H. R. Barker on account of illness, occupied the chair. The report of the membership committee added ten names to the membership roll of the club. Reports were heard from Rev. R. G. Clapp of the committee of the home work committee and Dr. George E. Chickard, secretary of the Federation of Churches. During the evening music was furnished by Mrs. Jesse A. Howe, soprano and Sidney H. Peet was the accompanist.

Prof. Cell's address touched upon some of the deeper influences of the war the causes of the war and of German atrocities.

"In the light of conditions in which we find ourselves today," he said, "it is with a deep sense of responsibility that we venture to say anything in relation to the great subject of Protestantism, of the supreme problem of our time, the problem of our own nationalism. Our minds are burdened with deep thoughts of grave thoughts and I can make no excursions tonight into the realm of humor. The spirit which has for generations ruled the history of the world has burst upon us in our time and before our eyes in a storm of disasters, bringing with it so much destruction and let us also hope no less creation—that there is nothing like it in the history of modern times, and for that matter in the history of all times.

How is Protestantism implicated in this great struggle? The nations of the world today are grouped into two beligerent camps. Protestantism, humanly speaking, was made in Germany. Today we are hearing talk of and without reason—a boycott of everything made in Germany. My family life is fused inseparably with the spirit of our national life. No man may question my patriotism. I still affirm that nationalism and Protestantism is a supreme problem of our time.

"Today the Protestant nations, because they have pursued the policy of liberty, have passed on to complete ascendancy in the affairs of the world. What of the future of these great Protestant nations? I sincerely hope that after Germany is brought to terms—as she will be—and chastened—as she will be—and after we have also dealt generously with her, I do hope that there will be renewed co-operation and renewed labors together. In the supreme task of spreading Protestant civilization over all the world. The relation must be put down—these people must be brought to their knees. But I do not forget that they are Protestant people; and I believe that after they have been chastened and disciplined—as they must be—we will be very glad that they are available to cooperate with us in this mighty task of spreading Protestant civilization throughout the world. That is what I mean by the 'new nationalism.' I do not ask for less patriotism. I ask for more. But I ask for a better kind of patriotism. The story of Edith Cavell is a tragic one and we shall never forget it; but do you know her last words? She said: 'I realize that patriotism is not enough. She meant that loyalty to a particular portion of humanity, true and divine as it is, was not quite big enough to satisfy the human soul as that soul stood in the presence of its maker. The object of patriotism is too small. When the object of patriotism shall be as big as the object of religion, then we can die and say that patriotism is enough, that patriotism is as big as the kingdom of God. That is what Mr. Asquith and Mr. Lloyd George and President Wilson, and every forward looking man in the world is thinking about today, while you and I are thinking of national service and loyalty to our country.

"Today we are absolutely devoted to our own country. I pity the man who cannot find something to do here. Let us not forget that there is something better still, ahead. Let us remember that it is diviner to lift up, to relieve, than to punish; and let us remember that we punish to relieve."

GIRL CLERKS ON STRIKE AT NELSON STORE

After being refused their Thursday afternoons off during eleven months of the year, sixteen girls, clerks in the store of the F. E. Nelson Co., Inc., left their work at 11 o'clock this forenoon, and they state they will not return unless their demand is granted.

Three weeks ago the clerks of Lowell held a mass meeting at the M.T.T. hall and they unanimously voted to request their employers to close Thursday afternoons during 11 months of the year and a committee was appointed to interview the merchants in this respect. Before the close of the meeting it was announced that the three leading stores of the city had decided to close every Thursday afternoon with the exception of December. Last Thursday another meeting of the clerks was held and at that meeting a long list of names of merchants who had agreed to the request of the clerks was read.

A formal demand for Thursday afternoons off was made upon F. E. Nelson, proprietor of the F. E. Nelson Co., Inc., five and ten cent store, but he refused to grant the demand and this forenoon at 11 o'clock sixteen clerks walked out.

MATRIMONIAL

Richard J. Carlin of this city and Miss Mary Edna Smith of Lubec, Me., were married Sept. 29 at the Sacred Heart church of Lubec by Rev. James Farley. The bride wore a gray champagne with white satin and carried a white rose. She was attended by Miss Gladys Quirk, her sister, who was attired in blue silk with hat to match and carried pink. The best man was Samuel Wilson. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, which was decorated with autumn leaves and roses. The couple left on an eleven day honeymoon trip through the state of Maine.

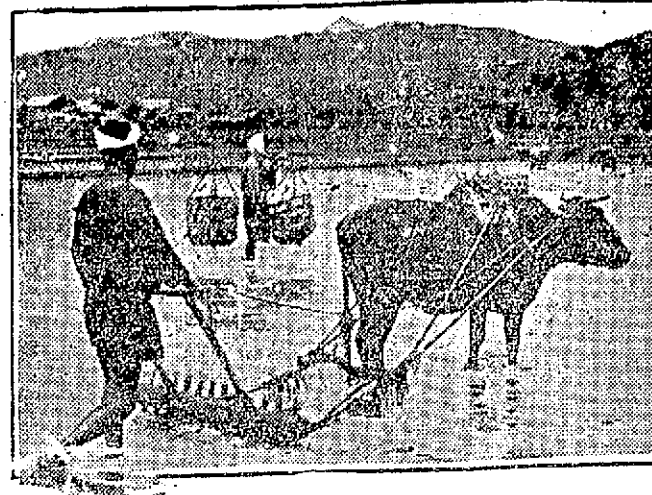

Murphy-Ryan
Edward P. Murphy and Miss Nora R. Ryan were married Oct. 1 at St. Peter's rectory, the ceremony being performed by Rev. P. L. Crayton. The bridegroom was a sister of the late Miss Mrs. A. Ryan, while the best man was Mr.

Lambert-Lambert
A very pretty wedding took place this morning when Ernest E. Lambert, a prominent salesman for the National Biscuit Co., and Miss Josephine M. Lambert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice J. Lambert, Sr., of 980 Middlesex street were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at Notre Dame de Lourdes church at 8 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Malone of St. Jean, Que., a cousin of the groom. The bride was attired in white satin trimmed with pearls and carried bright roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Amanda Lambert, who wore blue satin and carried pink roses. The best man was a brother of the groom, Edouard W. Lambert. During the mass a special musical program was given by the church choir, while Miss Philippine Beauregard, Sr., of Fall River and Mrs. J. H. Bergeron of Manchester, N. H., rendered several appropriate hymns. Miss Bella Lavigne presiding at the organ. At the close of the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where a wedding breakfast was served, followed by a brief reception, during which an elaborate musical program was given, those participating being Mrs. J. Beauregard of Fall River, Mrs. J. H. Bergeron of Manchester, N. H., Mrs. J. D. Williams of this city, Miss Bella Lavigne and others. Present at the festivities were guests from St. Jean, Que., Manchester, N. H., Fall River, Boston, New York and other places. Mr. and Mrs. Lambert, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts, left at noon by automobile for Boston, whence they will board a train for New York. After a two weeks' honeymoon spent in the state of New York the happy couple will make their home at 980 Middlesex street.

BRITISH RECRUITING MISSION ARRANGING FOR RALLIES IN SURROUNDING TOWNS

Capt. T. W. MacWilliams and Lieut. W. M. Lynton of the British recruiting mission remained in Lowell after last evening's rally and spent the greater part of today in arranging for rallies in the surrounding towns. Sergt. Nichols remained at the recruiting headquarters in Merrimack street receiving recruits. The party expects to be in Lowell for the remainder of the present week so that the suburban towns may be thoroughly covered. At the time of going to press the officers had not returned from their tour but it is probable that a rally will be held in one of the towns this evening. THE NEW JAPANESE POLICY

The American people are somewhat dumbfounded by the sudden announcement of a Monroe Doctrine in the Orient as made by Viscount Ishii of Japan at the close of a series of most friendly conferences and public demonstrations in his honor. Inasmuch as he was in secret conference with the government officials at Washington for several days it is quite likely that he made known to the president and Secretary Lansing this new policy in regard to the attitude of Japan as the protector of China and warning all nations to avoid any attempt to exploit that nation. It would seem that this policy has been adopted for the purpose of giving the United States a little of her own medicine in the far east and at the same time to warn off other powers, whether European or Asiatic, that might decide to seize or exploit any part of the republic of China. This policy for Japan is quite as unselfish as the Monroe Doctrine is for the United States. Our policy is directed against the old world powers. That of Japan is directed against the powers of Europe as well as the United States.

So far as the United States is concerned, it is difficult to see how we could consistently oppose such a policy. Japan undoubtedly seeing the possibilities of war and of world domination by this or that power or by a combination of powers, wishes to keep China intact as a vast base of supplies in case of necessity not only for food and war material but also for men. Evidently Japan is looking to her own future, far, very far, in advance. She is fortifying herself against possibilities that might occur sooner than is now expected or that might never occur; but as the Monroe Doctrine prevented European powers from colonizing in South America to our detriment and danger, so this eastern commerce of that doctrine will have a similar effect in behalf of Japan. It is not therefore, a policy against which we can raise any objection. It guarantees the integrity of China and freedom of trade in China for all nations. That seems to us to be a thoroughly fair proposition. But there is a corollary to it that concerns the United States alone. It is the securing of better conditions of entry for Japanese immigrants coming to the United States. That is a question that is likely to bring us more trouble than the Eastern Monroe Doctrine. As we do not anticipate that Japan will hold it retroactive, there will probably be no objection to our holding the Philippines until such time as we see fit to grant them complete independence. Even then it would seem that we should guarantee their safety against invasion by first rate powers. Altogether, despite the emphatic declarations of Japanese friendship for the United States, we do not think that the relations have been improved by this new declaration by Viscount Ishii. But Japan is now a co-belligerent with us in the world war and we must be ready to make allowances if not concessions that we otherwise would not make. The fact that we have entered the war as a world power, may have impressed Japan with the necessity of taking this stand at a time when she can rest assured that it will bring out no opposition from any of the allied powers with which she is engaged in the world war.

GERMANY MORE FURIOUS

Failing to find the Allies willing to make peace at the behest of Pope Benedict, Germany is turning to other means. One is to cause a split between the Allies. She would yield Alsace and Lorraine if allowed to extend her domain on the Russian border, but Germany cannot induce either France, England or the United States to countenance any proposition of this kind.

Foreseeing the failure of the U-boat frightfulness, Germany is now trying to decide the war by incessant raids upon England. She has been producing air craft at high speed lately and has numerous airplanes and seaplanes, all more quick in action than the discarded Zeppelins. She may have temporary success in this scheme, but both England and France will have to seek reprisals which will defeat Germany in the long run.

This is where America is expected to play an important part. If she has a large number of aircraft all will aid France and England in attacks not only on the battle fronts but on the naval bases which have hitherto enjoyed comparative security.

The Allies should establish an airplane base in Russia from which large squadrons could be directed with telling effect. The United States might well establish an airplane factory in Russia to be operated from that side against Germany.

As the days go by the evidence is multiplied that Germany is desperate in her failure to force any of the Allies into the slightest disposition to make a compromise peace.

FREEZING THE CHILDREN

We do not believe the people of this city will tolerate any policy of economy in fuel that will subject the school children to danger of catching colds that might follow them all winter and perhaps lead to other diseases.

Already several schools have had to close because of the cold. The heating apparatus of the Bartlett school was temporarily out of commission owing to the building operations started there; but there is no such excuse in the other schools. In Boston it has been decided not to start the heating of schools until the weather becomes "consistently cold" which means until the cold weather has come to stay. That is a dangerous policy to adopt and one which would not be tolerated in this city. When the weather is moderately warm in the day time and cold at night as in the late fall, the school rooms require heat sufficient to remove the "chill" every morning. It can be readily seen that by this system of false economy children might contract colds that would have very serious results. The fuel supply is not yet so short that the health of the children should be jeopardized. If it should prove deficient the children should not be the first to suffer.

JOHN N. COLE'S INFLUENCE

Hon. John N. Cole who has always had a remarkably high opinion of his own influence, takes to himself the credit of causing Governor McCall to veto the measure calling for the necessary appropriation for the development of the Merrimack river.

He regards the nomination of Governor McCall as an endorsement of his (Mr. Cole's) policy in opposing the river project.

Hon. John N. Cole, publishes a personal organ known as the Andover Townsman that may have a circulation of 300 more or less. If we are to accept Mr. Cole's estimate of the influence he exerts through the "Townsman," we might easily conclude that President Wilson, Premier Lloyd George of England and Kerensky of Russia look to the Andover Townsman for light and leading in their great responsibilities. In view of Mr. Cole's oracular power on momentous issues would it not be well to stop all this pother over raising armies and have Mr. Cole drop a few lines in his newspaper advising the Kaiser to cut off his dogs and stop the war.

Plant Juice Just What Was Needed

Lowell Business Woman Tells Interesting Story at Dows' Drug Store to Plant Juice Man

The symptoms of stomach trouble can never be mistaken, and may be denoted by any one of the following: Poor appetite, dull pains in the head, sense of fullness after eating, restlessness, costiveness, regurgitation of food, dyspepsia, indigestion, a coated tongue, bad breath, pains in the back or side, cold feet, poor circulation, or palpitation of the heart.

MRS. EVA LA BIANCA

Plant Juice, the new herbal stomach remedy, acts almost like magic in stomach trouble. It attacks and destroys all poisons in the blood, corrects diseased conditions of liver and kidneys and restores them to normal condition.

Daily local testimonials are received which verify these claims made for Plant Juice. Recently, Mrs. Eva La Bianca, who resides at No. 31 Pawtucket street, and is a well known business woman of Lowell, where she has resided for a number of years, said:

"For a long time I have been troubled with my stomach; I could not digest my food, had headaches, dizzy spells and my nerves were in such a bad condition that I could not get a good night's sleep; I always felt tired and seemed to have no ambition of energy. I also suffered great distress after eating from the gas in my system. I had tried many medicines, but none of them ever did me any good, and I had read so much about Plant Juice in our home papers, and how it was restoring people to health, that I finally decided to try it. Now I am glad to say, after taking three bottles I am greatly improved in every way; I have a good appetite, sleep well and feel stronger and more active. I am not troubled and it has toned up my nervous system. I am certainly glad to endorse Plant Juice."

The Plant Juice Man is at Dows, the Druggist's, in Merrimack Square, Lowell, where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

Germany that the people are behind the government in the war and that the universal conspiracy to Germanize the world has failed.

SEEN AND HEARD

The hotter an alarm clock works, the more unpopular it is.

The man who always pays cash need not have any fear that he will go into bankruptcy.

Everybody seems to feel justified in saying just what he thinks about the weather.

Success means different things to different people. To some it means only keeping out of trouble.

If a tax were put on bachelors, would the bachelors get married, or would they prefer to pay the tax?

People who like olives see no valid reason why those who don't like olives should try to learn to like them.

The man who asks out deliberately to get something for nothing has no good reason to complain if the other fellow beats him to it.

If you want to believe that some man you know is always good-natured, you don't want to get too well acquainted with him.

One good thing at least can be said for theatrical managers: They often lose the manuscript of plays that ambitious playwrights send in to them.

When you are invited to take dinner at the house of a friend who is running a garden and some corn that he raised himself is served, remember you are expected to say a good deal about it.

Here is a little question in arithmetic that probably the school children can answer: If the receipt of a driver for eighty-seven dollars a day, how much of the total is taken in for drugs?

It must be very trying to work in the service of the weather bureau and have people who know you, whose good opinion you court, tell you to ask you trustfully what the weather is going to be.

How does it make you feel when you timidly ask a friend to lend you for a week the five dollars that you lent him three years ago, and he tells you with a frown that he is considerably opposed to lending money?

Had Too Much Company

The marital troubles of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Speelhauser of 331 East 86th street, occupied the attention of the domestic relations court in New York. The greater part of an afternoon session, the feature thereof being Speelhauser's recital of his unsuccessful efforts to obtain a little sleep once in a while.

Speelhauser, who earns $13 a week, working hard for the Edison company, was in court because his wife had complained that he quarrelled at all the time, thereby making her life miserable. Speelhauser admitted it, but said he had a good reason.

"I have too much company," he testified. "I like to come home at night and take off my shoes and read my paper and then go to bed, but my wife and my daughters have their friends and they come here all the time and I have to be dressed up every night. I have lost so much sleep in three months I have lost 48 pounds."

Mrs. Speelhauser said that under no circumstances could she give up her right to have company every night, and she would not leave the house if he was going back to a place where a lot of people grabbed at each other until midnight, no magistrate Harris said he could live somewhat better if he would pay $2 a week for the support of his youngest daughter, aged 12.

Settling a Speculator

Five young soldiers from the Wisconsin division of the 88th regiment at the 10th night settled the problem of ticket speculators in a manner highly satisfactory to themselves. They held a meeting in front of the Hippodrome and to the management of that playhouse in New York.

Private Landon Van Kirk, C. Schroeder, Edward and James Rupel and L. Drews stepped from a sightseeing au-

NO STOMACH PAIN, GAS, INDIGESTION IN FIVE MINUTES

"Pape's Diapiesin" is the Best Antacid and Stomach Regulator Known.

"Really does" put upset stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness due to acid fermentation in five minutes—that's just what makes Pape's Diapiesin the largest selling stomach antacid and regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments and turns sour, you belch gas and eructate undigested food or water; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with indigestible waste; remember the moment "Pape's Diapiesin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin is worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest antacid for the stomach in the world.

tomobile in front of the Hippodrome. They were immediately approached by a speculator who held out five tickets which he assured them called for the best seats in the house.

"What do you want for them?" asked Private Van Kirk.

"You can have 'em cheap, men," said the speculator. "Only a dollar apiece!" Each soldier produced a dollar.

On entering the Hippodrome great was the surprise of the five when they were directed to seats well back in the gallery.

"What do these seats sell for at the box office?" one of the soldiers asked the usher. "Twenty-five cents," was the reply.

The fighting men thanked the usher, walked downstairs, obtained four checks and sought out the speculator. He started to run, but the soldiers surrounded him and demanded the return of their money. He protested, but after an argument in which his hat was smashed, his collar torn and his trousers pulled down, he handed over the money. Then a friend helped him into a taxicab and he went away. The young privates smiled throughout the discussion, and at every successive fas-

As the speculator disappeared the soldiers re-entered the Hippodrome and their four checks returned to their seats and watched the entire performance of "Cinderella" for the cheerfulness of nothing at all, each having been paid his money and his dollar before re-entering the theatre.

A Mother's Prayer

O God of infinite mercy, hear the mothers of this land as we plead before Thy throne for the loved ones we are sending into the battle for the right. Through our hearts are bowed with sorrow, we pray not for our selves; all our prayers, O God of love, are for them, the priceless treasures of our lives. We are willing to suffer, and, if need be, to die, for our country.

We would gladly give our lives to aid these infinite ones, dearer to us than life itself, who are going out to fight for the freedom, seen and unseen, to face all the horrors of the battlefield, and some perchance to die. But others may live, and by so doing, we feel we hold them back when duty calls them to save others.

Give them the manhood to meet this stern test of life; give them the strength of body, of mind and soul to do battle for the right, and to succeed the women and children. Arm them with divine power to smite evil; fold them in Thy loving arms; yea, though they walk

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR CROSS, SICK FEVERISH CHILD

If little stomach is sour, liver torpid or bowels clogged

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to enjoy their bowels, until they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can't cause injury. No harshness, what little you give—one if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomachache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages, and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Co." which is the only one in the world. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

through the valley of the shadow of death. My Thy presence banish every fear and Thy rod and Thy staff comfort them.

For three long years the men of our allies have battled for us as for their own homes, and their loved ones have endured the sorrows which now we must face. Our men go forth to help us up from ruin and the world from barbarism. We suffer, but we glory in their manhood. We dedicate our lives to this great cause that we may serve them and the world they carry forward the flag of civilization.

The prayers of a world in agony, for whom these loved ones are fighting, are lifted up to God for these men. They are offering all the earth holds dear, because they have heard Thy voice calling them to the noblest work of which man is capable. Thy love, O God, our Father, excels all human love, so we leave them with Thee. Thy love have we committed them to. They are Thine, created in Thy image.

Breathe into them Thou hast breathed the breath of life in its largest and divinest sense. Let them live, and let them live in their sacrifice, offering their lives that others may live, they are following in the footsteps of the Son of God who came to die for these men.

PERSHING TO BE FULL GENERAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Revival of the grade of full general is planned by the war department to provide suitable rank for Maj. Gen. John J. Pershing, commanding the American expeditionary forces in France.

It was learned last night that Secretary Baker has submitted the department's program, which includes provision for the title general to be held by the officer serving as chief of staff and the making of several lieutenant generals to command corps under Gen. Pershing, to the senate military committee and that legislation carrying it into effect is to be pressed for prompt passage when congress reconvenes in December.

Only four American army officers have borne the title of general—Washington, Sherman and Sheridan—and only a few have been lieutenant generals. Since Gen. Sheridan died in 1883 the rank of general has been vacant. No provision for a lieutenant general on the active list has been made since Gen. John C. Bates died in 1906, though there are three officers of that grade now on the retired list, Gen. Nelson, Gen. Bates, and Gen. Young and Gen. Bates.

Sec. Baker explained to the committee that early promotion of Gen. Pershing was essential, because he is to command a great army of many corps, entitling him to the highest military title, and in order to obviate embarrassment resulting from the high rank of the allied commanders with whom he is associated—marshals, field marshals and generals. It is equally necessary, he pointed out, that the chief of staff, the directing head of the army in Washington, should rank in other offices except the expeditionary commander, and that staff officers generally should have rank corresponding to that of officers in the field.

As soon as the forces in France have reached a strength which will justify the action, the divisions will be organized into army corps, and a lieutenant general should command each corps. It is probable also that the heads of the Pershing forces will be given rank in proportion to the importance of their duties. If that is done, it will follow that the heads of the staff corps in the United States, the bureau chiefs of the department, must be given higher rank than their subordinates in the field. Some of the bureau chiefs, but not all, now are major generals.

That Gen. Pershing would be promoted has been talked for granted in army circles ever since he was selected by President Wilson for the supreme trust of leading America's soldiers against the Germans, though the general belief has been the lieutenant general would be the rank.

Until the war army major generals were nominated recently he was promoted to the rank of lieutenant general. Bumping him now as Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, J. Franklin Bell, Thomas H. Barry and Tasker H. Bliss, all of whom were wearing their two stars before Gen. Pershing was advanced, upon returning from his expedition into Mexico.

Gen. Pershing was a captain of cavalry, 46 years old in 1905 when President Roosevelt promoted him over the heads of hundreds of other officers to make him a brigadier.

ICE CREAM MAN SAYS FARMERS CRAZY

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—Ara B. Gardner, Jr., of Baltimore, president of the National Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, opened the 17th annual convention in the Copley-Plaza hotel yesterday afternoon. Two hundred members had registered and many more were expected. The convention headquarters is at the Copley-Plaza and the trade exhibit in Horticultural hall.

The address of the evening was by President Gardner, who said: "Ice cream is the real 'war bride.' At every military camp the past summer it was the loaded ice cream truck that brought the cheers. Ice cream is the most concentrated food on earth—the true substitute for the best that alcohol could ever do."

"The matter of dairy supplies is most important. I can report on the best of authority that there is as much butter in this country today as on Oct. 1 a year ago. There is 50 per cent more cheese. There are tons of thousands of pounds more of powdered milk, millions of dollars worth of condensed milk on hand unsold—and the story of the milk distribution for the states has been one of surplus and surplus. Ice cream has helped to turn thousands upon thousands of gallons of cream into the most delicious food which otherwise would have been waste."

"The producing farmer has gone absolutely crazy. He is comparable with labor. The farmer's figures of costs are fantastic. They seem to include the cost of labor of investment, of farm crops fed his cows, and then a profit on the three costs and three profits as a pyramid."

"The labor situation," he said, "will grow steadily worse. Wages are going up, but as the tide rises, so do all objects that float on the tide, and as wages increase the buying power of each family increases. It is a circular performance."

The treasurer, W. J. Weller of Brooklyn, N. Y., reported a balance on hand of $554,120. O. Thayer of New York city, secretary, said the total output of ice cream in the United States last year was 283,320,000 gallons. The members will be the guests of the city of Boston Wednesday evening at a theatrical party. Automobile trips to various places of interest have been arranged. The convention will continue to Oct. 5, inclusive.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Congressman Garrett of Tennessee introduced a special rule yesterday for consideration by the house of a resolution promoting a discovery. "Garrett," said to make possible the utilization of unlimited energy.

The discoverer is T. K. Giragosian of Boston. Garrett has been presented frequently to congress the last two years in one form or another, but has never been regarded seriously. The purpose of the resolution is to secure a demonstration and also to protect Giragosian's rights if the demonstration proves a success.

The rules committee considered the matter yesterday morning and Mr. Garrett's action was taken after a favorable hearing. It is hoped to call up the resolution before adjournment.

In a report recently submitted by the committee on patents it was declared that "if Giragosian can prove the possibility of his discovery, or invention, the quick termination of the war is assured."

The committee, which was convinced of the inventor's earnestness and "high degree of intelligence," declared further that "the ships of our navy, ships of commerce and airplanes could travel any distance without returning for fuel. He says it would be possible to produce electricity anywhere by the use of the means he has contrived."

It is declared that practically the only expense will be wear and tear on machinery.

A public hearing on the question of the drainage of the Concord and Sudbury river meadows will be held in the selectmen's headquarters, town hall, Concord, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock under the auspices of the joint board on the drainage of wet lands, appointed under chapter 212, of the general acts of 1917, and which is composed of the members of the state board of agriculture and the state department of health. One of the speakers at the hearing will be Dr. Alfred P. Dachnowski of the U. S. department of agriculture.

Gen. Joseph B. Seth of Easton, Mass., has some whimsical apocryphal with a green cross, surrounded with red, distinctly graced on each apple. This was accomplished by putting a sticker on the apple while it was green, and as it ripens the sticker comes off, leaving the cross distinctly outlined.

Talks on Teeth

By DR. GAGNON
THE COWARD

A prominent man came in one day recently to talk teeth. I have been reading about your PORCELAIN DENTISTRY and "NAP-A-MINUT," he said, "but I am the biggest coward that ever was, and it has taken me four years to get where I am now."

After I had assured him that there was nothing about the PORCELAIN METHOD of supplying missing teeth to cause him one minute's worry he finally decided to have the new teeth put in.

The man is as proud of those teeth as a boy with a new toy. "And to think," he said, "that I have been fooled out of this solid comfort for years, just because I judged modern dentistry by the standards I knew years ago, when I was butchered alive by the old-time dentist, makes me feel mighty foolish."

"I'm tickled to death with my new teeth," as he went away. Briefly, the PORCELAIN METHOD is this: If you have two or more teeth in either jaw, I will supply all that you have lost, and they will be as beautiful and as serviceable as your natural teeth were, or should have been at their very best.

They will be firm and tight. I use no surgery, don't bore or cut into the gums, cause you no pain or discomfort while the work is being done.

I invite you to call at my office for free consultation and examination of your teeth and let me explain what I can do for you.

GALLIVAN URGES ALLEN DRAFT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—A plea for action on alien slacker legislation was made in the house yesterday by Representative James A. Gallivan of Massachusetts, who severely criticized the officials guilty of delay in bringing the question to a head. He spoke in part, as follows:

"On the 1st of June of the current year, in accordance with an act of congress, passed almost unanimously, 10,000,000 men between the ages of 21 and 31 were registered for the purpose of selecting from their number a National Army that might serve out the purposes of our government as these purposes were announced by the president of the United States when he thundered to Prussia, and through Prussia to the world, that the world must be made safe for democracy."

"The response to this call of the government was prompt, vigorous and eager. The number of 637,000 has already been made, and the American youth has taken his place in the various cantonments throughout the country to prepare himself for the work in hand."

Feeling that injustice is done

"There has been, unfortunately, accompanying this eager speeding of the boys on their way, a feeling that a great injustice has been done these young men, citizens of the United States by color or birth. They have been taken from their various occupations to perform this great duty of patriotism, and they find their places occupied by others who have enjoyed the same education, the same training that they have enjoyed, who have rejoiced in the protection of the government of the United States and the various commonwealths comprehended therein, and who, at the same time, feel a such thrill of patriotism as these other young men who have been selected, but on the contrary, have been quite content to fill in the places left vacant by the citizens and still enjoy the protection of our government without making one single effort by way of return."

"Figures are hard to get together, but I am credibly informed that there are in the United States today about 2,500,000 men who are not under obligation to serve under the Stars and Stripes, and who, because they are on American soil and protected by the laws of the United States, are free to join the armies of the various countries to which they severally owe allegiance."

"Of this number fully one-half are of the so-called draft age. When these immigrants came to this country, they brought with them arms and were glad to welcome them to the protection of our free institutions."

Call on Aliens to Do Duty

"We are surely grateful to them for the spiritual and material wealth that they have contributed to our beloved country, but we are obliged to remind them that unless they be willing to join the armies of the United States, unless a man translate a large part of his activity and his aspiration into patriotism or love of country, then that man's service is vain for it is not by what he does but by what he is that we are blessed by what we have given."

"We ask them now, in the light of their need, and the need of their native country, much more than ever, that they may be enjoining the fruits of democracy so they may in its most substantial way contribute their share of these fruits, and in return for what they have received from us, may at this time be the only kind of a nation that will or can be accepted as proof positive that they are not ungrateful to us for the privileges which they have enjoyed under the government of the United States."

"Mr. Speaker, if there be in this house, and I believe there is not a single member who doubts the justice which inspires this bill, if there be one here who is so little mindful of all that our government is and has been to him, if there be one who can see a shred of justice in sending more than 1,000,000 men, citizens of the United States, to the western front, while the alien who has not yet declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, takes his position in the counting room or the factory, and in snug comfortable surroundings, and himself he will enjoy all the benefits to be derived from registration and conscription, but will suffer none of the burdens, if such a man is a member of this house I ask him on what principle he can so easily sustain his contention. Frankly, I can see none."

Bill Gives All Square Deal

"We are in a world war. The alien has as much interest in the outcome as the citizen, and if this be so, why does he not take the position that if the result is to be a victory for the United States of America, he will swear under heaven to contribute to this victory, if he is entitled to share in its fruits."

"This bill is simply a corrective of what would otherwise be a gross injustice. As many men are at the cantonments today as the result of the first draft as there are aliens within the scope of this bill. Give us an action on this bill, then the mothers of these young men will know that there is no discrimination that richer poor, high and low, citizen and non-citizen, ready volunteer and slacker, are within the power of the government."

"The nation will then truly stand as a symbol of inviolable justice. Then shall we know that the foundations of the government structure are sound, and the government shall become more convinced than ever that as the ages pass and the historian takes his pen in hand he will never choose for his subject, 'The Decline and Fall of the United States of America.'"

Congressman Rogers of Massachusetts also sought to have the house go on record as favoring the legislation bringing aliens under the military laws.

Congressman Garrett of Tennessee said the state department has the matter in hand and that further action by congress will be of no value.

Mr. Rogers also made an effort to call up his resolution to provide for the state department inquiry of the allied countries their attitude on possible conscription of friendly aliens for the United States army, but on request for unanimous consent met objection from Representative Garrett of Tennessee.

COAL OPERATORS AND MINERS AGREE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Coal operators and miners of the central competitive field, meeting here to discuss a readjustment of wage scales, reached a full agreement as to the amount of increases to be given. They will discuss tomorrow the length of time the new contract will run.

Pick and shoveling miners, who demanded 15 cents a ton increase in pay, will get 10 cents, and unskilled labor, which sought a wage scale of $1.50 a day, will get $1.30. Yardage and dead work will be paid for on a basis of a straight 30 per cent increase.

The wage increases were granted by the operators contingent on their absorption in higher coal prices, which they expect the fuel administration to give them on presentation next week of their cost production figures.

The miners are seeking a contract for two years, but the operators insist on a provision for its termination 60 days after the end of the war. Miners' representatives said last night they would not yield on this point.

Provisions will be inserted in the contract to prevent either side from breaking it for any cause. This was demanded by the operators because the miners, in asking the present increases, are ignoring a contract signed last April.

Coal mine wage scales throughout the country are based on the central field scale, and if yesterday's agreement is ratified wages will be raised accordingly in other districts.

Operators of the central field are asking the fuel administration for increases of about 50 cents a ton in the prices fixed for coal at the mines in a recent order by President Wilson. Many mines, they insist, will be forced to shut down unless prices are revised.

Already Dr. Garfield, the fuel administrator, has granted increases in outlying districts, where for the most part coal veins are thin, making the cost of operation high.

Safeguards Health of The Children

Constipation, or inaction of the bowels, is a great menace to health. Cathartic or purgative remedies should never be given to children as the violence of their action tends to upset the entire digestive system. A mild laxative is far preferable, and the combination of simple laxative herbs with nopal known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and sold in drug stores for fifty cents a bottle, is highly recommended. This preparation contains no opiate, narcotic, or habit-forming drug of any description, is mild and gentle in its action, and brings relief in an easy, natural manner. Its pleasant taste appeals to children, and they take it readily.

Thousands of mothers have testified to the merit of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in countless homes it is the standard family remedy. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. E. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

O. M. I. CADETS' DRUM CORPS TO HEAD PARADE

Lowell will be well represented in the big reception to be given soldiers and sailors at Winchester tomorrow night. The celebration is for Winchester's own sons now in the service, and all who are able will return from Ayer and elsewhere to participate. A parade and banquet are on the program.

The exercises are to start at eight o'clock. A men's mission is being conducted at St. Mary's church by Rev.

Dennis Sullivan, O.M.I. of Lowell and Rev. Fr. Haley, O.M.I. and the service will start tomorrow night at seven o'clock instead of eight to enable the men to witness the send-off.

The big parade will be headed by the O.M.I. cadets drum corps of Lowell. The young musicians will assemble at their armory at 8.30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to be ready to leave by auto at 5.45 o'clock. After the parade they will attend the banquet.

WHIST WATCH FOR EDWARD J. SHEEHAN OF THE LAWLER PRINTING CO.

Edward J. Sheehan of Rogers street, one of the local young men who are to leave this city Friday morning to join the National army at Ayer, was presented a valuable wrist watch at the noon hour today at the Lawler Printing Co. establishment in Middle street. The young man had been a valued employee of the firm for over eight years, and today's presentation was a token of both the appreciation of his associates of the excellent work which he had done with the firm as well as a mark of respect for his willingness to serve his country. The presentation this noon was from the firm and the speech was made by Mr. Lawler Ford. Mr. Sheehan responded in a fitting manner and, although no formal program had been arranged, the next half hour was spent in congratulating the new soldier.

LOWELL TO THE FRONT

Continued

N. G. Nickerson of the firm of Curtis & Sanger of Boston, an expert bond merchant, arrived in Lowell this morning to assist the local committee in the hundred and one intricate financial details connected with the campaign.

The Liberty bond button for subscribers to the present issue is out and a large number of the emblems have been received by the local committee. They have been distributed among the banks and are obtainable either there or from the members of the committee. The new button is of a different and perhaps more attractive design than that which accompanied the first issue. It is finished in the national colors with blue predominant as a background. On the right side is a representation of the Statue of Liberty and inscribed to the left of this are the words "I own a Liberty bond." The buttons will be given only to those who subscribe to the new issue of the Liberty loan. Those who transfer bonds which they purchased at the time of the last campaign to the present issue will not be given a button. The emblems are designed solely for genuine subscribers to the present issue and to that alone. The amount of the subscription will not affect the giving of the buttons.

An important point which Chairman Marden of the local committee wishes to emphasize is that Lowell people should do business with the Lowell committee in the campaign and not with Boston or New York houses. Lowell will get credit only for the money which is reported from this city and outside subscriptions will go to the credit of other communities. In the first campaign Lowell's quota was originally set at $3,000,000 and the city succeeded in raising something over three million, according to the report. But there was over a million dollars of Lowell money subscribed in Boston and New York and the local committee didn't get credit for a cent of it. Lowell money should circulate to the government through Lowell channels. The argument may be advanced that it doesn't make any difference how the money is given as long as it eventually reaches its destination. This is true, but it should be a matter of local pride to have the city given credit for what she actually does. It is reported from Boston that the Lowell quota in the present campaign which was originally set at five million has been advanced and will probably be set at six million. This means renewed effort on the part of everybody if the city is to do her bit.

SLACKERS WILL NOT BE ALLOWED ON YALE FOOTBALL TEAM

NEW YORK, Conn., Oct. 3.—Unless a man, physically fit, has identified himself with some branch of military service, he need not expect to play football at Yale this year, according to an announcement made today by T. A. D. Jones, football coach. The announcement says: "No man, who is physically fit, and is not a member of the reserve officers' training corps or some branch of the military service will be permitted to report for football."

The day after they were married, 12 years ago, William J. Purvis of Vineland, N. J. and his wife adopted five needy children. They have kept this practice up and now point to 22 young people that they have raised and sent into the world.

200 AMERICANS NEAR STARVATION IN SYRIA

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 3.—The matter of relief for naturalized Americans is becoming most acute in Syria and Palestine, according to reports received by the American minister, Ira Nelson Morris. The reports say that more than 200 Americans are threatened with death by starvation unless aid comes quickly.

Conditions in Smyrna are better, although there are also some Americans there who need aid. Smyrna college reopened on Oct. 1 and other American colleges resumed their sessions. Robertson college has 300 students and the Girls' college has an attendance up to its full capacity.

The Americans at Samsun, in Trebizond, are well treated. A lengthy report on the relief situation in Palestine has been prepared at Mr. Morris' request, and a similar report for the rest of the country will be ready shortly.

"TEA DAY" AT Y. W. C. A.
The first "tea day" of the season was enjoyed by the members of the Educational club at the Y. W. C. A. rooms yesterday afternoon. An interesting entertainment was provided and refreshments were served. The decorations consisting of autumn leaves were very appropriate and a harvest tea was served by the hospitality committee, assisted by Mrs. Ricker, chairman pro tem. Mrs. Harry Swan poured and several Scotch songs, sung by Mrs. Leggett, were enjoyed. A guessing contest, won by Mrs. Gardner, also occasioned much mirth among the members.

FAVORITE DEFEATED BY THE REAL LADY

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 3.—The Real Lady, owned by H. C. Cordon of New York, won yesterday afternoon the $14,000 3-year-old Kentucky Futurity from brilliant rivals.

It was an easy victory, although in going the third heat in 2:03 1/2. The Real Lady trotted the fastest third heat of the year by a mile.

The first heat was especially well contested. The Real Lady being able to beat Miss Bertha Dillon, the favorite, by a nose. Driven by Tommy Murphy she took the lead in the first heat and kept it for that and the two succeeding ones.

Miss Bertha Dillon might have won the first heat, as driver Serrill drove her a "long mile" going around the field. She was distanced in the second heat when she made a break on the turn.

Some watches caught The Real Lady's third quarter in better than 30 seconds.

Lu Princeton, piloted by Walter Cox, from England reinsman, won the 2:06 trot easily. The only opposition she had was in the first heat, when Al Mack crowded her a little, but broke in the third heat.

Joe C. took the remaining event, the 2:16 trot. His main opposition was furnished by Miss Bertha Dillon, who broke in the first heat. Cox had a chance to win the second heat, but his horse broke at the first turn. It was a great fight from the length to the goal, but the Real Lady won by a nose.

THE "BLOOMER" BRIGADE

Special to The Sun

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Oct. 3.—Major General Butler Ames of the Massachusetts State Guard today advocated that the women of every city in the state follow the lead of the young girls of Lowell, who have started the formation of a woman's regiment for service to the city, state and nation for the period of the war.

"Every facility of the State Guard will be used to help the young women of Lowell and other communities which join in the movement," said Gen. Ames. "The idea is not a humorous one as military drill, could through parades and public demonstrations stimulate recruiting. Besides that they would be of help as hospital aids, ambulance drivers, messengers, and in other ways as the situation of war develops upon this country."

Already at the State Guard headquarters the women's militia, which now claims Lowell as its birthplace, is being referred to generally as the "bloomer brigade." This name attached itself to the female organization when Miss Emma Leclair, its organizer, told Gen. Ames that the young women were debating whether they would wear skirts or bloomers.

Just what the State Guard is willing and able to do for the patriotic young women of Lowell is demonstrated in the following letter which he sent to the mayor of Lowell:

Oct. 2, 1917
Hon. James E. O'Donnell, Mayor of Lowell, Lowell, Mass.

My Dear Mr. Mayor—I wish to acknowledge receipt of your open letter of Sept. 25th certifying that Miss Emma Leclair of 72 Cabot street, Lowell, Mass., has your permission to organize a company of militia girls for service in your city.

As you undoubtedly know, the enabling act for the State Guard, chapter 148, general acts of 1917, contemplated men only for enrollment in the State Guard. The formation of the State Guard throughout the state has been perfected through the assistance of the public safety committees and the local town governments wherever State Guard companies have been organized.

If the board of aldermen and public safety committee of the city of Lowell make a request that we give any assistance within our power to a "militia girls' organization" such as you suggest, we will be glad to do so.

Very respectfully,
Butler Ames,
Major General Commanding.

ACCUSED OF PUTTING CROTON OIL IN FOOD

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—Two witnesses were heard yesterday afternoon in the municipal criminal court in the case of Frederick W. Kendrick, until recently head waiter for the Pettis & Vogel restaurant and saloon at 343 Washington street. He was arrested about two weeks ago by inspectors Burr and Cronin on a charge of administering croton oil to Leopold H. Vogel, one of the proprietors. In food, and threatening bodily harm to Ralph H. Harrison, who is employed at the saloon. The case was continued until this morning, when other government witnesses were heard and Kendrick's story will be presented.

At the forenoon session Mr. Vogel testified that he had become very ill after having dinner at his saloon, that it was Kendrick who waited on him, and that croton oil was later found on Kendrick when arrested.

Dr. John S. H. Leard of Jamaica Plain testified that he treated Vogel, who suffered much pain with cramps, and that on his advice two small vials that had been found on the premises were examined and found to be croton oil, of which he said a large amount would kill.

At the afternoon session Harrison testified that he had heard he was to be given a beating by three men, and that Kendrick was supposed to have hired three men to do the beating. He said that he did not know why Kendrick should be so unfriendly to him, unless it was because he was jealous because he had a better job at the saloon. He said that Michael Miller, who works in the kitchen of the restaurant, had told him that Kendrick intended "to get him."

Miller then testified that Kendrick told him it was being fixed up to give Harrison a beating. He said that he talked with Kendrick about the presence of the croton oil in the food, and that Kendrick had told him that it was the same kind of stuff that the German spies used to kill horses.

Saturday, October 6th, is "Quarter Day" at The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank.

EVENING HIGH AND ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS OPEN FOR FALL AND WINTER TERM

The fall and winter term of the evening high and elementary schools opened last evening with a fairly large attendance. At the high school of the 709 pupils who had registered of 7 and 8. The elementary schools reported an attendance of 432. In the course of the evening Supt. Hugh J. Molloy visited the various schools and he was much pleased with the manner in which registration went on.

ANDREW MOLLOY HONORED

Andrew Molloy, employed at the power house of the Bay State Street Railway company, who is soon to leave for Camp Devens at Ayer, was tendered a farewell dinner at the Marlborough hotel last evening, the affair being attended by about 75 intimate friends. In the course of the evening the young man was presented a handsome wrist watch, the presentation address being delivered by Robert R. Thomas, who acted as master of ceremonies. A delightful entertainment program was given and at the close of the evening the following young men who had organized the event were warmly congratulated for the success of the evening: Foster Riley, Alfred Rogers and Charles Rogers.

THE SPELLBINDER

When Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the lantern years ago she started something without a doubt, for she caused the Chicago fire, one of the greatest conflagrations on record, and out of that fire almost half a century later has developed a national institution known as "Fire Prevention day," when people unite to clear away dirt and rubbish and in other ways guard against fire. Fire Prevention day had its origin on Oct. 9, 1911, the 40th anniversary of the Chicago fire and it was rapidly taken up by the states and cities until now nearly every state and town in this commonwealth, last year, Boston, Brookline, Cambridge, Newton and Lowell observed Fire Prevention day while other cities observe it this year for the first time. Some cities hold parades with the fire departments in line and floats illustrating the different causes of preventable fires. The national board of underwriters who are the promoters of Fire Prevention day have issued a special bulletin in reference to the day in which they tell us: "In the nation's crisis Fire Prevention day has a deeper significance than ever before." An article headed "Germany's American Ally," points out that every preventable fire, little or big, is to some degree "an aid and comfort to the enemy." A portion of the article reads as follows:

"Germany has a powerful ally working within the boundaries of the United States. Its operations are very effective. It enters munition plants and causes explosions. It cripples hundreds of factories which are laboring to produce war time necessities. It waits until the grain in the fields is ripe for harvest, and then destroys it over thousands of acres, or else it hides the grain in the harvested crops have been stored in elevators, and obliterates them by the hundreds of thousands of bushels."

The day locally, will be observed in the schools, the members of the fire department assisting, as was done so successfully last year. One of the features in the Fire Prevention day parade in New York city last year was the representation of a mammoth cigar built on which was inscribed "1918 fires last year." Underneath was the sign: "Smokers burn more than their smokes when they are careless. The smoke may be enjoyable, but look out for the butt!"

Senator Jackson Re-nominated
The Lowell friends of Senator George H. Jackson, of Lynn, a native of Lowell, will be pleased to learn that he has been re-nominated, by no uncertain vote, having carried every one of the 23 precincts in his district. Unfortunately, while the voters of wards 5 and 9 are in a senatorial district which includes one ward in Lynn, it is not the ward or district in which Senator Jackson is a candidate otherwise local republicans would have some satisfaction in voting in the "show-string district." Senator Jackson is a well known figure at the state house. Although a republican, he is a strong friend and advocate of labor laws, and is a member of the typographical union of Lynn.

Crowds of Soldiers
Over 1300 soldiers came to Lowell from Ayer on Saturday and over 800 on Sunday. These were actually counted. As Saturday was pay day there is no doubt that the soldiers left a considerable amount of money in the city. Practically none of the drafted men now at Ayer have dependents and hence can keep or spend their money as they see fit. Although it is a fact that the licensed places are not selling liquor to the soldiers, some of them showed signs of a too liberal indulgence before they returned to the camp. But as there is no law to stop a civilian from giving liquor to a soldier, it is a difficult, and in fact almost impossible task, to keep liquor away from them unless a law is passed making it an offense to procure for or give liquor to a soldier. Some of the more daring ones, it is suspected, have changed their clothing upon coming here and by wearing civilian attire have managed to get what liquor they desired in licensed places, but all uniformed men have been barred. Motorcyclists who wear khaki trousers and leggings state that they have been held up and refused liquor in a number of licensed places in which they have been suspected of being soldiers which would indicate that the liquor men are keeping a close watch on the boys. Considering the large number of soldiers in town at one time drawn from different cities and towns, and suddenly let loose from military restraint, the men thus far have been well behaved as a general rule. One will always find a few "rough-necked" in so large a crowd but the main body of them have conducted themselves like gentlemen and soldiers while here.

With the library collection just finished and the second liberty bond campaign just started there has been but little response thus far to Mayor O'Donnell's appeal for a small fund with which to furnish the boys with football and basketball equipment, but no doubt that will be provided within a short time. One Lowell citizen completely fitted out Battery F with such things while they were at Bedford and only asked in return that they keep it secret and not disclose his identity to anybody. It is to be hoped that the boys who go away on Friday morning will fall into such excellent hands as those who departed a week ago and who are now with the machine gun battalion and the headquarters company. The boys in their praise of Capt. Andrew G. Moffatt, who is their commanding officer. The latter is a resident of Atlantic, a suburb of Quincy and his father is a well known business man in Quincy, which recalls the fact that another machine gun company commanding officer, who made a host of friends in Lowell also came from Quincy, Capt. Downes, whose command was stationed in Lowell during the early days of the war.

That $5 Head Tax
Several Lowell residents who have been held up on the Canadian border and compelled to pay a head-tax, so-called of $5, in order to get back to their homes, have complained to Mayor O'Donnell and the latter has communicated with the immigration authorities in an effort to get them their money back. Recently his friends in Lowell also came from Quincy, Capt. Downes, whose command was stationed in Lowell during the early days of the war.

Immigration law now in force provides a head-tax on all aliens entering the United States to reside permanently and provides further that, in the case of aliens who had entered the United States prior to October 1, 1916, and who at the time of entry thereto were not lawfully admitted by an immigrant inspector, they must now pay this head-tax when returning to this country even from a temporary visit.

This would indicate that all those who have come to this country since 1916 must pay a head-tax and if they didn't pay it when coming down for the first time it will be collected from them upon the occasion of their next return. The head-tax is not levied unless they have become citizens in the meantime. Those who came here prior to 1916 would appear to be immune from liability to such taxation. It was stated to the mayor that if a person who has paid a head-tax should desire to return to Canada within six months the head-tax will be refunded. Since the outbreak of the war the immigration officials of both countries are keeping a strict watch upon all who cross the Canadian border and it will be well for all who travel westward to be armed with a letter of identification.

A Busy Office
Monday being the first of the month the city treasurer's office was a veritable hive of industry from 9 in the morning until long after city hall had closed for the day. In addition to the regular work, which the clerks and clerks fairly busy at all times, 802 signatures were taken and 1200 tax bills were written, which is going some. Between state and federal auditors, etc., the 802 signatures were aggregated for the German war and added a couple of hundred names to the list. The receipts were grouped as follows: State aid and soldiers' relief, 208; German war and military aid, 232; outdoor relief, 42; dependent mothers, 133; all others, 96; total, 602.

Departments Hit Hard
The two departments hit hard by the war are the police and the state aid, though the state aid department still is maintained eventually by the commonwealth, while the police department gets nothing back. Since the outbreak of the war it has been necessary to keep a large number of additional policemen constantly employed doing guard duty in certain quarters and patrol duty where needed, with the result that the expenses of the department will be increased in excess of the estimate submitted at the beginning of the year. The department in all probability will be crippled by the close of the year by reason of the fact that the municipal council cut down the department's appropriation when making up the budget, not giving the department a sufficient amount to conduct it properly under ordinary conditions. The recent explosion at the Boot mills and other happenings since the war started are enough to show that the city needs adequate police protection for the city at this time.

THE SPELLBINDER.
LICENSE BOARD HEARS LIQUOR CASE

A hearing on the complaint of Supt. Welch of the police department that intoxicating liquors were sold to intoxicated persons at the saloon of Joseph A. Cayouette & Co., 516 Middlesex and 4 Howard streets, was held by the license commission last night. The first witness called was Officer Timothy Dwyer, who said he and Officer Palmer visited Mr. Cayouette's saloon about 10:30 o'clock on the night of September 19th. There were two drunken men standing against the bar. One man was very drunk. He was placed under arrest and at first gave his name as Harry Michael, later he said his name was Harry Mitchell, and still later said his name was Harry Michael. He was sent to the police station and the following morning he gave the name of Arthur Michael.

At this point the prosecuting officer tried to bring out testimony relative to what the officer saw before entering the saloon, but the board ruled it out and told the examiner to confine himself to what happened in the saloon.

Continuing with his testimony Officer Dwyer said: "Both men were leaning over the counter; they were drinking beer and the man we afterwards arrested was unsteady on his feet, and he staggered in his speech. When he got outside we questioned him and he staggered all the way to the door."

On cross-examination witness said he had visited the saloon on various occasions since he was appointed to the liquor squad. He thought he might have called at the place five or six times a week, sometimes twice a day. On a recent occasion he present and so far as he could observe the respondent was conducting his business in a proper manner.

On the night of the 19th witness said that there were about 20 men in the place. The two men referred to were standing against the bar and drinking out of small glasses. Officer Dwyer said that he called the two men away from the bar and the two men went away from the bar and he was talking to them and also to show them to the proprietor. Witness admitted the only conversation he had with the men was when he said "Come over here," they made no answer. Mr. Cayouette's attention was called to the men and he said that if he had seen them come in he would not allow them to be served. He told the witness that he did not think the men were very bad.

The man walked across the floor and out through the door leading into Howard street and when he reached the street he was placed under arrest. The man said that he resided at 62 Middlesex street had just come back from the woods.

Counsel for the defense then put Officer Dwyer through a rigid cross-examination.

Officer George H. Palmer, who accompanied Officer Dwyer, said he and Officer Dwyer entered the saloon through the Howard street entrance and went up to two men who were standing at the bar. Both were drunk. Officer Palmer said that he took the glass of beer away from the man who gave the name of Michael, while Officer Dwyer took the glass which the other man had in his hand. Witness said that he spoke to Mr. Cayouette and the latter said to him: "If I had seen those men they would not have been here." He also said to witness "You have sent me out men out of the saloon who were not nearly as bad as they are."

Officer Palmer said that he had cautioned Mr. Cayouette on several occasions, but that in his opinion Mr. Cayouette was trying to conduct the business in his saloon in a proper manner.

Witnesses summoned to appear for the defense, at the conclusion of Mr. Cayouette's cross-examination counsel for the defense rested his case.

After arguments had been made the board took the matter under advisement.

Minor Licenses
During the evening action was taken on a number of minor licenses, as follows:

Granted—Sunday permits, Garobed Muligan, 176 Chelmsford street; Victor Lalime, 50 Gage street. Public amusement for dancing, Owen Donohue, Lincoln hall. Second hand clothing and shoes, Leo Cohen, 263 Middlesex street. Show, Michael W. Murray, 16 Gorham street. Permit for the installation of one extra pool table, Joseph Klein, 351 Middlesex street. Junk collector, Hyman Wolf, 118 Howard street. Billiards and pool, Stagnos and Georgopoulos, 416 Suffolk street.

The Defence
The first witness for the defence was Joseph A. Cayouette, the respondent, who said that he had been the licensee of the saloon at the corner of Middlesex and Howard streets for the past three years. He had never appeared before the license commission on any complaint previous to the present time and spent the greater part of the time in the saloon. Since the opening of the saloon at Ayer he said he was especially vigilant and ejected as many as forty people a day whom he thought were objectionable. He always stopped any person who was intoxicated from being served any kind of drink. He had warned his clerks not to serve drink to any intoxicated person.

Relative to the night of the arrest, witness said that Officers Palmer and Dwyer called his attention to two men who were standing at the bar. The officers said that the men were drunk, but he would not consider them intoxicated.

On cross-examination Mr. Cayouette said he had been in the liquor business for twenty years and he did not consider that either of the men were drunk. He said that one of the officers said to him "Don't blame you, I blame your bar-tenders."

ROW OVER "SLUSH" FUND REOPENED IN HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The protracted wrangle over charges by Rep. Hefflin of Alabama, that certain members of congress have "acted suspiciously" in the present war, flared up again in the house today when Rep. Mason of Illinois made a speech contending that Hefflin had intentionally charged Mason with treason and "linked him up with Emma Goldman."

LIVES IN DANGER

from being killed as a result of falling down a flight of stairs while trying to make his way through the smoke filled house.

The only occupant of the house was Miss Olechnowicz, her brother, the pastor of St. Joseph's Lithuanian church, being out of town. She occupied a room on the second floor of the building and shortly after 2:30 o'clock was awakened by a strong odor of smoke. She turned on the electric light and found that the smoke was pouring into the room from beneath the door leading to the corridor. Opening the door she was almost overcome by the dense volumes of smoke that were pouring through the building but managed to get to a post one of the downstairs rooms where the telephone is located. She made several attempts to get the operator, but was unsuccessful, probably owing to the fire having impaired the wires.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

PEACE OFFER TO FRANCE FROM GERMANY

PETROGRAD, Oct. 3.—The British, French and Italian governments through their representatives here have denied categorically the intention attributed to the entente allies powers of taking advantage of the difficult situation in Russia in order to insure their own interests.

The British ambassador has stated officially that Great Britain would never agree to such a policy. The French ambassador recently informed the government that a personage occupying an important diplomatic post in Germany had made overtures to some French politicians with a view to the discussion of questions of interest to France, but this personage was indignantly rejected.

The Italian ambassador has informed the government that Italy will continue her co-operation with Russia in the common cause and that she has rejected all proposals of peace negotiations which have neglected Russian interests.

FORGED BONDS SOLD TO JITNEY OPERATORS

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 3.—Harry Chippendale, wanted in Providence, R. I., on a warrant charging forgery, was arrested here today aboard a Canadian naval craft, on which he had enlisted as second mate under the name of Harry Allen. The authorities announced that he admitted his identity and agreed to waive extradition. He was ordered held for the Providence police.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 3.—A police inspector started today for Halifax, N. S., to bring back Harry A. Chippendale, wanted here under indictments charging that he forged bonds sold to jitney operators. Chippendale, arrested here Dec. 5 last, was under bonds for trial when he disappeared. Police commissioners stated that 33 jitney operators' bonds accepted by them and negotiated by Chippendale were fraudulent.

ROGERS' REPATRIATION BILL PASSED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Under suspension of the rules, the house yesterday passed Representative Rogers' bill for the repatriation of Americans who have served in friendly foreign armies and have been honorably discharged. Probably 50,000 Americans will be affected by the bill.

Although bitter opposition to the measure developed from several members, the bill passed by a vote of 253 to 5. A similar bill has passed the senate, and the two measures now go to conference.

To obtain repatriation, the Americans affected may appear before American consuls abroad and take an oath of allegiance, or in the United States may take the oath before any naturalization court.

OBJECTOR NOW WANTS TO BE A SOLDIER

CAMP DEVENS, Ayer, Oct. 3.—"I want to be a soldier."

It was a simple, straightforward plea made by a man who, when he was drafted, registered as a conscientious objector. He is John T. Arbour of Brockton, who since he arrived here has been attached to the 25th company, 7th Battalion, Depot brigade, Capt. E. J. Westcott of Brockton in his battalion commander and it was to him that Arbour has not been asked to drill with the fighting men. His wishes with regard to the bearing of arms have been respected, but as the days rolled by and he saw his comrades growing enthusiastic as their training for democracy fight, in which they are to share, grew more and more desirable, he could stand it no longer and he appealed to his captain. His transfer to a fighting unit has been put through.

MATE OF AMERICAN THREE-MAS- TER KREMLIN STABBED TO DEATH

PARIS, Oct. 3.—A despatch from a French port to the Petit Parisien says that Samuel Sutherland, mate of the American three-masted schooner, has been stabbed to death by a member of the crew. Sutherland ejected the man from a cabin, the despatch says, and the man retaliated by stabbing him three times.

LOCAL POLICE LOOKING FOR SNEAK THIEF

The local police department is endeavoring to locate the sneak thief, who operated in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Roy, 822 Moody street, last week ago and who successfully got away with an empty purse.

One afternoon last week a man who gave the name of Morris, and who claimed Elmwood Centre as his home, called at the Roy home and informed Mrs. Roy that he had been sent by her husband to get an order for vegetables. While the conversation was going on in the kitchen on the front porch rang and Mrs. Roy went to the door, being gone about two minutes. When she returned to the kitchen she found the visitor had changed his position, but at that time paid little attention to the change. Shortly afterward the visitor excused himself and left in a hurry. It was not until Sunday, the loss of the purse was noticed and yesterday Mrs. Roy notified the police. Mrs. Roy is of the opinion that when she went to the bedroom and picked up the purse from the bureau, thinking in contained money.

NURSES' ALUMNAE HOLDS ELECTION OF OFFICERS

SAYRE UNDER FIRE ON ITALIAN FRONT

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Oct. 3.—Francis E. Sayre, son-in-law of President Wilson, told of his narrow escape from Austrian gunners while visiting a portion of the Isonzo front in September, on his arrival here yesterday on board a hospital ship. He spent four months in France and Italy in the organization of recreational centers as a representative of the war work council of the Y.M.C.A.

Sept. 5, accompanied by several Y.M.C.A. officers, Mr. Sayre was visiting the Italian front when they became the target of six Austrian gunners. Five shells were fired at them. Mr. Sayre said, the last of which exploded within 40 feet of the party. The Italian army officers escorting them thrust them back into the automobile in which they were hurried to a place of safety.

THE NEW JAPANESE POLICY

The American people are somewhat dumbfounded by the sudden announcement of a Monroe Doctrine in the orient as made by Viscount Ishii of Japan at the close of a series of most friendly conferences and public demonstrations in his honor. Inasmuch as he was in secret conference with the government officials at Washington for several days it is quite likely that he made known to the president and Secretary Lansing this new policy in regard to the attitude of Japan as the protector of China and warning all nations to avoid any attempt to exploit that nation. It would seem that this policy has been adopted for the purpose of giving the United States a little of her own medicine in the far east and at the same time to warn off other powers, whether European or Asiatic, that might decide to seize or exploit any part of the republic of China. This policy for Japan is quite as unselfish as the Monroe Doctrine is for the United States. Our policy is directed against the old world powers. That of Japan is directed against the powers of Europe as well as the United States.

So far as the United States is concerned, it is difficult to see how we could consistently oppose such a policy. Japan undoubtedly seeing the possibilities of war and of world domination by this or that power or by a combination of powers, wishes to keep China intact as a vast base of supplies in case of necessity not only for food and war material but also for men. Evidently Japan is looking to her own future, far, very far, in advance. She is fortifying herself against possibilities that might occur sooner than is now expected or that might never occur; but as the Monroe Doctrine prevented European powers from colonizing in South America to our detriment and danger, so this eastern commerce of that doctrine will have a similar effect in behalf of Japan. It is not therefore, a policy against which we can raise any objection. It guarantees the integrity of China and freedom of trade in China for all nations. That seems to us to be a thoroughly fair proposition. But there is a corollary to it that concerns the United States alone. It is the securing of better conditions of entry for Japanese immigrants coming to the United States. That is a question that is likely to bring us more trouble than the Eastern Monroe Doctrine. As we do not anticipate that Japan will hold it retroactive, there will probably be no objection to our holding the Philippines until such times as we see fit to grant them complete independence. Even then it would seem that we should guarantee their safety against invasion by first rate powers. Altogether despite the emphatic declarations of Japanese friendship for the United States, we do not think that the relations have been improved by this new declaration by Viscount Ishii. But Japan is now a co-belligerent with us in the world war and we must be ready to make allowances if not concessions that we otherwise would not make. The fact that we have entered the war as a world power, may have impressed Japan with the necessity of taking this stand at a time when she can rest assured that it will bring out no opposition from any of the allied powers with which she is engaged in the world war.

GERMANY MORE FURIOUS

Failing to find the Allies willing to make peace at the behest of Pope Benedict, Germany is turning to other means. One is to cause a split between the Allies. She would yield Alsace and Lorraine if allowed to extend her domain on the Russian border, but Germany cannot induce either France, England or the United States to countenance any proposition of this kind.

Foreseeing the failure of the U-boat, frightfulness, Germany is now trying to decide the war by incessant raids upon England. She has been producing air craft at high speed lately and has numerous airplanes and seaplanes, all more quick in action than the discarded Zeppelins. She may have temporary success in this scheme, but both England and France will have to seek reprisals which will defeat Germany in the long run.

This is where America is expected to play an important part. If she has a large number of aircraft she will aid France and England in attacks not only on the battle fronts but on the naval bases which have hitherto enjoyed comparative security.

The Allies should establish an airplane base in Russia from which large squadrons could be directed with telling effect. The United States might well establish an airplane factory in Russia to be operated from that side against Germany.

As the days go by the evidence is multiplied that Germany is desperate in her failure to force any of the Allies into the slightest disposition to make a compromise peace.

FREEZING THE CHILDREN

We do not believe the people of this city will tolerate any policy of economy in fuel that will subject the school children to danger of catching colds that might follow them all winter and perhaps lead to other diseases.

Already several schools have had to close because of the cold. The heating apparatus of the Bartlett school was temporarily out of commission owing to the building operations started there; but there is no such excuse in the other schools. In Boston it has been decided not to start the heating of schools until the weather becomes "consistently cold" which means until the cold weather has come to stay. That is a dangerous policy to adopt and one which would not be tolerated in this city. When the weather is moderately warm in the day time and cold at night as in the late fall, the school rooms require heat sufficient to remove the "chill" every morning. It can be readily seen that by this system of false economy children might contract colds that would have very serious results. The fuel supply is not yet so short that the health of the children should be jeopardized. If it should prove deficient the children should not be the first to suffer.

JOHN N. COLE'S INFLUENCE

Mon. John N. Cole who has always had a remarkably high opinion of his own influence, takes to himself the credit of causing Governor McCall to veto the measure calling for the necessary appropriation for the development of the Merrimack river.

He regards the nomination of Governor McCall as an endorsement of his (Mr. Cole's) policy in opposing the river project.

Mon. John N. Cole, publishes a personal organ known as the Andover Townsman that may have a circulation of 200 more or less. If we are to accept Mr. Cole's estimate of the influence he exerts through the "Townsman," we might easily conclude that President Wilson, Premier Lloyd George of England and Kerensky of Russia look to the Andover Townsman for light and leading in their great responsibilities. In view of Mr. Cole's oracular power on momentous issues would it not be well to stop all this bother over raising armies and have Mr. Cole drop a few lines in his newspaper advising the Kaiser to call off his dogs and stop the war.

Plant Juice Just What Was Needed

Lowell Business Woman Tells Interesting Story at Dows' Drug Store to Plant Juice Man

The symptoms of stomach trouble can never be mistaken, and may be denoted by any one of the following: Poor appetite, dull pains in the head, sense of fullness after eating, restlessness, costiveness, regurgitation of food, dyspepsia, indigestion, a coated tongue, bad breath, pains in the back or side, cold feet, poor circulation, or palpitation of the heart.

MRS. EVA LA BLANC

Plant Juice, the new herbal stomach remedy, acts almost like magic in stomach trouble. It attacks and destroys all poisons in the blood, corrects diseased conditions of the liver and kidneys, and restores them to normal condition.

Daily local testimonials are received which verify these claims made for Plant Juice. Recently, Mrs. Eva La Blanc, who resides at No. 21 Parkview street, and is a well known business woman of Lowell, where she has resided for a number of years, said:

"For a long time I have been troubled with my stomach; I could not digest my food, had headaches, dizzy spells and my nerves were in such a bad condition that I could not get a good night's sleep. I always felt tired and seemed to have no ambition or energy. I also suffered great distress after eating from the gas in my system. I had tried many medicines, but none of them ever did me any good, and I had read so much about Plant Juice in our home papers, and how it was restoring people to health, that I finally decided to try it. Now I am glad to say, after taking three bottles I am greatly improved in every way; I have a good appetite, sleep well and feel stronger and more active; I am not constipated and I have toned up my nervous system. I am certainly glad to endorse Plant Juice."

The Plant Juice Man is at Dows' the Druggist's, in Merrimack Square, Lowell, where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

Germany that the people are behind the government in the war and that the universal conspiracy to Germanize the world has failed.

SEEN AND HEARD

The better an alarm clock works, the more unpopular it is.

The man who always pays cash need not have any fear that he will go into bankruptcy.

Everybody seems to feel justified in saying just what he thinks about the weather.

Success means different things to different people. To some it means only keeping out of trouble.

If a tax were put on bachelors, would the bachelors get married, or would they prefer to pay the tax?

People who like olives are no valid reason why those who don't like olives should try to learn to like them.

The man who sets out deliberately to get something for nothing has no good reason to complain if the other fellow beats him to it.

If you want to believe that some man you know is always good-natured, good opinion and to get too well acquainted with him.

One good thing at least can be said for theatrical managers. They often lose the manuscripts of plays that ambitious playwrights send in to them.

When you are invited to (sit) dinner at the home of a friend who is running a garden and some corn that he raised himself is served, remember you are expected to say a good deal about it.

There is a little question in arithmetic that probably the school children can't answer. If the result of a drugstore is eighty-seven dollars a day, how much of the total is taken in for drugs?

It must be very trying to work in the service of the weather bureau and have people who know you, whose good opinion you value, ask you, "What's the weather is going to be."

How does it make you feel when you find out a friend to lend you for a week the five dollars that you lent him three years ago, and he tells you with a frown that he is conscientiously opposed to lending money?

Had Too Much Company

The marital troubles of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Speelhauser of 224 East 36th street, occupied the attention of the domestic relations court in New York the greater part of an afternoon session. The feature thereof being Speelhauser's recital of his unsuccessful efforts to obtain a little sleep once in a while.

Speelhauser, who earns $13 a week, working hard for the Edison company, was in court because his wife had complained that he quarreled at her all the time, thereby making her life miserable. Speelhauser admitted it, but said he had a good reason.

"We have too much company," he testified. "I like to come home at night and take off my shoes and read my paper and then go to bed, but my wife and my daughters have their friends and their beaux there all the time and I have to be up every night. I have lost so much sleep in three months I have lost 46 pounds in weight."

Mrs. Speelhauser said that under no circumstances could she give up her right to have company every night, and Mr. Speelhauser said he'd be degraded if he was going back to a place where a lot of people gambled at each other until midnight, so Magistrate Harris said he could live somewhere else if he would pay $3 a week for the support of his youngest daughter, aged 12.

Setting a Speculator

Five young soldiers from Wisconsin, men of the 8th regiment of the Rainbow division at Camp Mills, L. I., the other night, set a trap for the chattering ticket speculators in a manner highly satisfactory to themselves, to a crowd of spectators in front of the Hippodrome and to the management of that place in New York.

Privates Linden Van Kirk, C. Schroder, Edward and James Russell and E. Drews stepped from a sightseeing car

NO STOMACH PAIN, GAS, INDIGESTION IN FIVE MINUTES

"Pape's Diapiesin" is the Best Antacid and Stomach Regulator Known.

"Really does" put upset stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn, and sourness, due to acid fermentation in five minutes—just that makes Pape's Diapiesin the largest selling stomach antacid and regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments and turns sour, you belch gas and eructate undigested food or water; head is dizzy and aches; breath is foul; tongue coated; your bowels filled with indigestible waste; remember the moment "Pape's Diapiesin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin is worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest antacid for the stomach in the world.

tomobile in front of the Hippodrome. They were immediately approached by a speculator who held out five tickets which he assured them called for the best seats in the house.

"What do you want for them?" asked a friend.

"You can have 'em cheap, mon," said the speculator. "Only a dollar apiece!" Each soldier produced a dollar.

On entering the Hippodrome great was the surprise of the five when they were directed to seats well back in the gallery.

"What are these seats sold for at the box office?" one of the soldiers asked the usher.

The fighting man thanked the usher, walked downstairs, obtained door checks and sought out the speculator. He started to run, but the soldiers surging back and demanded the return of their money. He protested, but after an argument in which his hat was smashed, his collar torn and his hand pinched, he gave back the four dollars. Then a taxicab and he went away. The young privates snickered throughout the discussion, and at every successive fight argument the spectators laughed and applauded.

As the speculator disappeared the soldiers re-entered the Hippodrome on their door checks, returned to their seats and watched the entire performance of "Cheer Up for the Chatterbox" with interest and enjoyment. They were not at all sorry to have their money back before re-entering the theatre.

A Mother's Prayer

O God of infinite mercy, hear the mothers of this land, we plead before Thy throne for the loved ones we are sending forth to battle for the right. Though our hearts are bowed with sorrow, we pray not for their safety, all our prayers, O God of love, are for them, the priceless treasures of our lives. We are willing to suffer, and if need be, to die for our country.

We would gladly give our lives to save these loved ones, dearer to us than life itself, who are going out to fight for the right, to face all the horrors of the battlefield, and to endure death, but by no word or look will we hold them back when duty calls them to save others.

Give them the manhood to meet the supreme test of life, give them strength of body, of mind and soul to do battle for the right, and to protect the woman and children. Arm them with the power to smite evil; fold them in Thy loving arms; yea, though they walk

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR CROSS, SICK, TORPID OR BOWELS CLOGGED

If little stomach is sour, liver torpid or bowels clogged

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. So simple! It will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "California Syrup of Figs." It is made by a well-known physician, and it cannot cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomachache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for the treatment of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the first artist, Miss F. M. Kelly, of St. Michael's church. No smaller size, bland back with contempt any other fig syrup.

through the valley of the shadow of death my Thy presence banish every fear and Thy rod and Thy staff comfort them.

For three long years the men of our alliance have battled for us as for their own homes, and their loved ones have endured the sorrows which now we must face. Our men go forth to help save us from ruin and the world from barbarism. We suffer, but we glory in their manhood. We dedicate our lives to this great cause that we may serve with us to these for these men. They are offering all the earth holds dear, because they have heard Thy voice calling them to the noblest work, with which lives were willing to consecrate. Thy God, our Father, excels all human love, so we leave them with Thee. To Thee have we committed them.

They are Thine, created in Thy image. Into them Thou hast breathed the breath of life in its largest and divinest sense.

In their sacrifice, offering their lives that others may live, they are following in the footsteps of the Son of God Himself, who died to make men free from sin and death. We thank Thee, O God, to Thy infinite love, and to Thy ever watchful eye. Hold them as in the hollow of Thy hand, for they are doing Thy work and fulfilling Thy law. Teach them of Him who spoke as never man spoke, when He taught that greater love hath no man than that he is willing to lay down his life for others.—From Manufacturers Record.

Come Through

If you try with cards, buy a brand new deck.

And send the old one through. To the bunch in France so they'll have a chance.

To shuffle the pasteboards, too; For the deck that was planned by a poor mad king.

For a spur to his muddled brain, May serve, in the stretch of a ratty weekend.

To keep a soldier sane.

If you like your smoke when you are nervous, try French cigarettes.

Or your job and your time go slow. If you get up from a cigar.

Or an old pipe's ruddy glow; Then think of the boys in a muddy ditch.

Away from their homes and folk, And save your dimes and your jits sometimes.

To buy 'em a bunch of smokes.

And you who shudder at nicotine Consider our boys who dwell In the very heart of the battle front. In the dirt and the noise and smell; Do you think a smoke as the long hours drag.

Could ever be called a sin? Why it's just pure joy to a soldier boy—Come on, old top, kick in!

THE LOWELL TEACHERS' ORGANIZATION

The Lowell Teachers' organization held its first meeting of the present season yesterday afternoon at 4.30 in the assembly hall of the Varnum school. There was a gratifying and enthusiastic attendance of the members of the organization and from the evidences of the initial gathering there is every reason to believe that the coming year will be a most successful one.

The meeting was presided over by Miss Mary F. Devine, the newly elected president. Seated on the platform were the other officers of the organization: Miss Charlotte Walsh and Miss Millie Severance, vice presidents; Miss Ella M. Green, treasurer; and Miss Katharine Kelly, secretary.

The meeting opened at 4.30 with an address of welcome by President Devine who also outlined in a general manner the plans of the organization for the coming year. After the closing of the meeting, the school children of the city had raised nearly $100 for the war library campaign fund and had done this in less than four days. This sum included $15 from the student body of the State Normal school.

The educational committee of the organization, Miss Katharine M. Tash, chairman, has enlarged the scope of its work in university extension so that at present there are four courses open to the people of the city. Miss Devine emphasized the fact that the courses are not for the teachers alone, but for the whole city. It is expected that after the first of next year a number of other courses will be open to Lowell because the legislature will have appropriated more money for the work.

The president then called upon the secretary to read the records of the previous meeting and it was found that the members of the teaching force of the city had passed away since that meeting. Miss Grace W. Balch, for over a quarter of a century associated with the Varnum school, died last night and it was voted that a page of the record be inscribed in her memory. Cyrus W. Irish, principal of the high school, had also died since the last meeting and William W. Morey, principal of the Charles W. Chapman school, paid a steeple (tribute) to the departed principal. A letter of appreciation from Mrs. Irish was read. A page in the records will be devoted to the memory of Mr. Irish.

Miss Devine then announced that at the next meeting she had a high regard for the principal speaker would be Frank W. Wright, deputy commissioner of education for the state board.

NOT FOR YEARS are you likely to have another chance to buy A SILK LINED FALL OVERCOAT FOR $16.50

Mr. Wright is well known to the organization and an enjoyable and profitable session is anticipated.

The meeting was then turned over to the teachers of the Varnum school district including those from the Kings street, Tenth street, West Sixth street and Varnum schools and Varnum kindergarten. Principal Harris said that an informal musical had been arranged and he introduced as the first artist, Miss Ella M. Kelly, organist of St. Michael's church. Miss Kelly played several piano solos with excellent feeling. They included the "Salute de Penth" and "Joy the Revere." Mrs. John W. Murphy, also of St. Michael's church, sang the "Ave Maria," with accompaniment on the harp by Miss Grace Donahue. The offering was both novel and beautiful. Mrs. Murphy then sang "Auntie Laurie" with deep feeling.

A young lady of the high school age, then offered several solos on the harp and these afforded an opportunity to bring out unexpected technique and control. The harp is admittedly one of the most difficult instruments to play but Miss Donahue played her difficult numbers with the greatest ease. Among her numbers were "Autumn" and "Reverence." Mrs. Murphy concluded the delightful recital with the singing of "Spring's Awakening," a number which required the greatest control. She was accompanied by Miss Kelly.

At the conclusion of the musical a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served with the teachers of the Varnum district as the hostesses.

"I am strongly of the opinion that there is no form of social insurance that is more humane, sounder in principle, and that would confer a greater benefit upon large groups of our population and upon the commonwealth as a whole than health insurance. System and the wholesale scale on which the great industry should be reckoned as one of the costs of doing the business. Massachusetts has given recognition, tardy though it be, to the necessity of that kind of insurance."

PERSHING TO BE FULL GENERAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Revival of the grade of full general is planned by the war department to provide suitable rank for Maj. Gen. John J. Pershing, commanding the American expeditionary forces in France.

It was learned last night that Secretary Baker has submitted the departmental program, which includes provision for the title general to be held by the officer serving as chief of staff and the making of several lieutenant generals to command corps under Gen. Pershing, to the senate military committee and that legislation carrying it into effect is to be pressed by prompt passage when congress convenes in December.

Only four American army officers have borne the title of general—Washington, Grant, Sherman and Sheridan—and only a few have been lieutenant generals. Since Gen. Sheridan died in 1893 the rank of general has been extinct. No provision for a lieutenant general on the active list has been made since Lieut. Gen. John C. Bates retired in 1906, though there are three officers of that grade now on the retired list, Gen. Nelson A. Miles, Gen. Samuel B. H. Young and Gen. Bates. It is expected that the rank of lieutenant general will be given to Gen. Pershing as a reward for his brilliant leadership in the campaign against the German army in France, and that staff officers generally should have rank corresponding to that of officers in the field.

As soon as the forces in France have reached a strength which will justify the action, the divisions will be organized into army corps, and a lieutenant general should command each corps. It is probable also that the ranks of the Pershing forces will be given rank in proportion to the importance of their duties. If that is done, it will follow that the heads of the staff corps in the United States, the bureau chiefs of the department, must be given higher rank than their subordinates in the field. Some of the bureau chiefs, but not all, now are major generals.

That Gen. Pershing would be promoted has been taken for granted in many circles ever since he was selected by President Wilson for the supreme trust of leading America's soldiers against the Germans, though the general would be the rank.

Until the war army major generals were nominated recently he was next to the bottom of the list in that grade. Ranking him now are Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, J. Franklin Roll, Thomas H. Barry and Tasker H. Bliss, all of whom were wearing their two stars long before Pershing was advanced upon returning from his expedition into Mexico.

Gen. Pershing was a captain of cavalry, 44 years old, in 1906 when President Roosevelt promoted him over the heads of hundreds of other officers to make him a brigadier.

ICE CREAM MAN SAYS FARMERS CRAZY

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—Asa B. Gardner, Jr., of Baltimore, president of the National Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, opened the 17th annual convention in the Copley-Plaza hotel yesterday afternoon. Two hundred members had registered and many more were expected. The convention headquarters is at the Copley-Plaza and the trade exhibit in the adjacent hotel.

The address of the afternoon was by President Gardner, who said: "Ice cream is the real 'war bride'." At every military camp the past summer has the loaded ice cream truck that brought the cheers. Ice cream is the most concentrated food on earth—the true sub-

Talks on Teeth

By DR. GAGNON
THE COWARD

A prominent man came in one day recently to talk teeth. "I have been reading about your PORCELAIN DENTISTRY and 'NAP-A-MINUT,'" he said, "but I am the biggest coward that ever was, and it has taken me four years to get where I am now."

After I had assured him that there was nothing about the PORCELAIN METHOD of supplying missing teeth to cause him one minute's worry he finally decided to have the new teeth put in.

The man is as proud of those teeth as a boy with a new toy. "And to think," he said, "that I have been fooled out of this solid comfort for years, just because I judged modern dentistry by the standards I knew years ago, when I was butchered alive by the old-time dentist, makes me feel mighty foolish."

"I'm tickled to death with my new teeth," as he went away. Briefly, the PORCELAIN METHOD is this: If you have two or more teeth in either jaw, I will supply all that you have lost, and they will be as beautiful and as serviceable as your natural teeth were, or should have been at their very best.

They will be firm and tight. I use no surgery, don't bore or cut into the gums, cause you no pain or discomfort while the work is being done.

I invite you to call at my office for free consultation and examination of your teeth and let me explain what I can do for you.

stitute for the best that alcohol could ever do.

"The matter of dairy supplies is most important. I can report on the best of authority that there is as much butter in this country today as on Oct. 1 a year ago. There is 50 per cent. more cheese. There are tens of thousands of pounds more of powdered milk, millions of dollars worth of condensed milk on hand unsold—and the story of the milk distribution for the cities has been one of surplus and losses. Ice cream has helped to turn thousands upon thousands of gallons of cream into the most delicious food which otherwise would have been wasted."

"The producing farmer has gone absolutely crazy. He is comparable with labor. The former's figures of costs are chaotic. They seem to include the profit of labor of investment, of farm crops fed his cows, and then a profit on the three costs and three profits as a pyramid."

"The labor situation," he said, "will grow steadily worse. Wages are going up, but as the tide rises, so do all objects that float on the tide, and as wages increase, the buying power of each family increases. It is a circular performance."

The treasurer, W. J. Waller of Brooklyn, N. Y., reported a balance on hand of $354,100. L. O. Thayer of New York, secretary, said the total output of ice cream in the United States last year was 208,320,000 gallons. The members will be the guests of the city of Boston Wednesday evening at a theatre party. Automobile trips to various places of interest have been arranged. The convention will continue to Oct. 5, inclusive.

DISCOVERY MAY END THE WAR SOON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Congressman Garrett of Tennessee introduced a special rule yesterday for consideration by the house of a resolution promoting a discovery, "Garaged," said to make possible the utilization of unlimited energy.

The discoverer is T. K. Giragosa of Boston. Garaged has been presented frequently to congress the last two years in any form or name, but has never been regarded seriously. The purpose of the resolution is to secure a demonstration and also to protect Giragosa's rights if the demonstration proves a success.

The rules committee considered the matter yesterday morning and Mr. Garrett's action was taken after a favorable hearing. It is hoped to call up the resolution before adjournment.

In a report recently submitted by the committee on patents it was declared that "if Giragosa can prove the possibility of his discovery, or invention, the quick termination of the war is assured."

"The committee," which was convinced of the inventor's earnestness and "high degree of intelligence," declared further that "the ships of our navy, ships of commerce and airplanes could travel any distance without returning for fuel. He says it would be possible to produce nitrates anywhere by the use of the means he has contrived."

It is declared that practically the only expense will be wear and tear on machinery.

PUBLIC HEARING ON DRAINAGE OF CONCORD AND SUDBURY RIVER MEADOWS

A public hearing on the question of the drainage of the Concord and Sudbury river meadows will be held in the selectmen's headquarters, town hall, Concord, Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock under the auspices of the joint board on the drainage of wet lands, appointed under chapter 312, of the general acts of 1917, and which is composed of the members of the state board of agriculture and the state department of health. One of the speakers at the hearing will be Dr. Alfred P. Dachnowski of the U. S. department of agriculture.

Gen. Joseph B. Seth of Easton, Md., has some whinapples with a green cross, surrounded with red, distinctly marked on each apple. This was accomplished by putting a sticker on the apple while it was green, and as it ripens the label comes off, leaving the cross distinctly outlined.

GALLIVAN URGES ALIEN DRAFT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—A plea for action on alien shaker legislation was made in the house yesterday by Representative James A. Gallivan of Massachusetts, who severely criticized the officials guilty of delay in bringing the question to a head. He spoke, in part, as follows:

"On the 5th of June of the current year, in accordance with an act of congress, passed almost unanimously, 10,000,000 men between the ages of 21 and 31 were registered for the purpose of selecting from their number a National Army that might carry out the purposes of our government as these purposes were announced by the president of the United States when he thundered to Prussia, and through Prussia to the world, that the world must be made safe for democracy."

"The response to this call of the government was prompt, vigorous and eager. The first draft of 25,000 men has already been made, and the American youth has taken his place in the various cantonments throughout the country to prepare himself for the work in hand."

Feeling That Justice Is Done

"There has been, unfortunately, accompanying this eager speeding of the boys on their way, a feeling that a great injustice has been done these young men, citizens of the United States by choice or birth. They have been taken from their various occupations to perform this great duty of patriotism, and they find their places occupied by others who are enjoying the same beneficent institutions that they have enjoyed, who have rejoiced in the protection of the government of the United States and the various commonwealths, comprehended therein, and who yet at the same time, feel no such thrill of patriotism as these other young men who have been selected, but, on the contrary, have been quite content to sit in the places vacated by the citizens and still enjoy the protection of our government without making one single effort by way of return."

"Figures are hard to get together, but I have been informed that there are in the United States today about 1,500,000 men who are not under obligation to serve under the Stars and Stripes, and who, because they are not citizens, are not subject to the laws of the United States, cannot be forced to join the armies of the various countries to which they severally owe allegiance."

"The number fully one-half are of the so-called draft age. When these immigrants came here we received them with open arms, and were glad to welcome them to the protection of our free institutions."

Calls on Aliens to Do Duty

"We are surely grateful to them for the spiritual and material wealth they have contributed to our beloved country, but we are obliged to remind them that unless the soil of the manhood of the country is free; unless a man translate a large part of his activity into his attitude into patriotism or love of country, then that man's service is vain, for it is not by what we receive that we are blessed but rather by what we give."

"We ask them, in the light of their own consciences, to contribute their native country, much more than ours that, as they are enjoying the fruits of democracy, so they may in a most substantial way contribute their share of these fruits, and in return for what they have received from us, may at this time the only kind of a return that will or can be accepted as proof of positive that they are not a single member who doubts the justice which inspires this bill, if there be one here who is so little mindful of all that our government is and has been to him, that they do not see a shred of justice in sending more than 1,000,000 men, citizens of the United States, to the western front, while the alien who has not yet decided to contribute his share to the defense of the United States, takes his position in the counting room or the factory, and in smug complacency says to himself that he will enjoy all the benefits to be derived from the registration and conscription, but will suffer none of the burdens, if such a man is a member of this house I ask him or what principle of justice he relies to sustain his contention. Frankly, I can see none."

Bill Gives All Square Deal

"We are in a world war. The alien has as much interest in the outcome as the citizen, and if this be so, why does he not take the position that if the result is to be a victory for the United States of America, he will exert under heaven to contribute to this victory, if he is entitled to share in its fruits."

"This bill is simply a corrective of what would otherwise be a gross injustice. As many men are the contingents today as the result of the first draft as there are aliens within the scope of this bill. Give us some action on this bill. Then the registration of these young men will know that there is no discrimination that richer poor, high and low, citizen and non-citizen, ready volunteer and shaker, are within the power of the government."

"The nation will then truly stand as a symbol of inviolable justice. Then shall we know that the foundations of the government are secure, and we shall be more convinced than ever that as the ages pass and the historian takes his pen in hand he will never choose for his subject, 'The Decline and Fall of the United States of America.'"

Congressman Rogers of Massachusetts also sought to have the house go on record as favoring the legislation bringing aliens under the military laws.

Congressman Garrett of Tennessee said the state department has the matter in hand and that further action by congress will be an effort to call up his resolution to provide for having the state department inquire of the allied countries their attitude on possible conscription of alien citizens, but on a request for unanimous consent met objection from Representative Garrett of Tennessee.

RURAL MAIL CARRIER HAS VERY UNUSUAL EXPERIENCE WITH BLACK SNAKE

ROCKVILLE, Conn., Oct. 3.—The moral of this story is, don't drive your automobile over a black snake on the country road under the impression that it is an old horse collar, or you may get a puncture to your tire. Snakes are vivacious, especially in Buckville, and nothing makes them so angry as being run over by mail carrier, learned this sad truth last Thursday, and he is still shakier his head sorrowfully over the outcome of his encounter.

As Mr. Davis told the story to his fellow employees at the Rockville post-office he was driving his car over his route when he noticed a black looking object lying in the road. It took him a little while to get it, and he would have

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Coal operators and miners of the central competitive field, meeting here to discuss a readjustment of wage scales, reached a full agreement as to the amount of increases to be given. They will discuss tomorrow the length of time the new contract will run.

"Pick and machine miners, who demand 15 cents a ton increase in pay, will get 10 cents, and unskilled labor, which sought a wage scale of $1.50 a day, will get $1.30. Yardage and dead work will be paid on a basis of a straight 20 per cent. increase."

The wage increases were granted by the operators contingent on their absorption in higher coal prices, which they expect the fuel administration to give them on presentation next week of their cost production figures.

The miners are seeking a contract for two years, but the operators insist on a provision for its termination by days after the end of the war. Miners' representatives said last night they would not yield on this point. Provisions will be inserted in the contract to prevent either side from breaking it for any cause. This was demanded by the operators because the miners, in asking the present increases, are ignoring a contract signed last April.

Coal mine wage scales throughout the country are based on the central field scale, and yesterday's agreement is ratified wages will be raised accordingly in other districts. Operators of the central field are asking the fuel administration for in-

Safeguards Health of The Children

Constipation, or inaction of the bowels, is a great menace to health. Cathartic or purgative remedies should never be given to children as the violence of their action tends to upset the entire digestive system. A mild laxative is far preferable, and the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and sold in drug stores for fifty cents a bottle, is highly recommended. This preparation contains no opiate, narcotic, or habit-forming drugs. Its pleasant taste appeals to children as they take it readily. Thousands of mothers have testified to the merit of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in countless homes it is the standard family remedy. A trial bottle, free of charge, may be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 459 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

O. M. I. CADETS' DRUM CORPS TO HEAD PARADE

Lowell will be well represented in the big reception to be given soldiers and sailors at Winchester tomorrow night. The celebration is for Winchester's own sons now in the service, and all who are able will return from Ayer and elsewhere to participate. A parade and banquet are on the program.

The exercises are to start at eight o'clock. A men's mission is being conducted at St. Mary's church by Rev.

Penis Sullivan, O.M.I. of Lowell, and Rev. Fr. Haley, O.M.I. and the services will start tomorrow night at seven o'clock instead of eight to enable the men to witness the send-off.

The big parade will be headed by the O.M.I. cadets drum corps of Lowell. The young musicians will assemble at their armory at 5:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to be ready to leave by auto at 5:45 o'clock. After the parade they will attend the banquet.

WRIST WATCH FOR EDWARD J. SHEEHAN OF THE LAWLER PRINTING CO.

Edward J. Sheehan of Rogers street, one of the local young men who are to leave this city Friday morning to join the National army at Ayer, was presented a valuable wrist watch at the noon hour today at the Lawler Printing Co. establishment in Middle street.

The young man had been a valued employee of the firm for over eight years, and today's presentation was a token of both the appreciation of his associates of the excellent work which he had done with the firm as well as a mark of respect for his willingness to serve his country. The presentation this noon was from the firm and the speech was made by Mr. Lawler Ford, Mr. Sheehan responded in a fitting manner and, although no formal program had been arranged, the next half hour was spent in congratulating the new soldier.

LOWELL TO THE FRONT

N. G. Nickerson of the firm of Curtis & Sanger of Boston, an expert bond merchant, arrived in Lowell this morning to assist the local committee in the hundred and one intricate financial details connected with the campaign.

The Liberty bond button for subscribers to the present issue is out and a large number of the emblems have been received by the local committee. They have been distributed among the banks and are obtainable either there or from the members of the committee. The new button is of a different and perhaps more attractive design than that which accompanied the first issue. It is finished in the national colors with blue predominant as a background. On the right side is a representation of the Statue of Liberty and inscribed to the left of this are the words "I own a Liberty bond." The buttons will be given only to those who subscribe to the new issue of the Liberty loan. Those who transfer bonds which they purchased at the time of the last campaign to the present issue will not be given a button. The emblems are designed solely for genuine subscribers to the present issue and to that alone. The amount of the subscription will not affect the giving of the buttons.

An important point which Chairman Hadden of the local committee wishes to emphasize is that Lowell people should do business with the Lowell committee in the campaign and not with Boston or New York houses. Lowell will get credit only for the money which is reported from this city and outside subscriptions will go to the credit of other communities.

In the first campaign Lowell's quota was originally set at $4,000,000 and the city succeeded in raising something over three million, according to the report. But there was over a million dollars of Lowell money subscribed in Boston and New York and the local committee didn't get credit for a cent of it. Lowell money should circulate to the government through Lowell channels. The argument may be advanced that it doesn't make any difference how the money is given as long as it eventually reaches its destination. This is true, but it should be a matter of local pride to have the city given credit for what she actually does.

It is reported from Boston that the Lowell quota in the present campaign which was originally set at five million has been advanced and will probably be set at six million. This means renewed effort on the part of everybody if the city is to do her bit.

200 AMERICANS NEAR STARVATION IN SYRIA

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 3.—The matter of relief for naturalized Americans is becoming most acute in Syria and Palestine, according to reports received by the American minister, Ira Nelson Morris. The reports say that more than 200 Americans are threatened with death by starvation unless aid comes quickly.

Conditions in Smyrna are better, although there are also some Americans there who need aid. Smyrna college reopened on Oct. 1 and other American colleges resumed their sessions. Robert college has 300 students and the Girls' college has an attendance up to its full capacity.

The Americans at Samsun, in Trebizond, are well treated.

A lengthy report on the relief situation in Palestine has been prepared at Mr. Morris' request, and a similar report for the rest of the country will be ready shortly.

THE "BLOOMER" BRIGADE

Special to The Sun

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Oct. 3.—Major General Butler Ames of the Massachusetts State Guard today advocated that the women of every city in the state follow the lead of the young girls of Lowell, who have started the formation of a woman's regiment for service to the city, state and nation for the period of the war.

"Every facility of the State Guard will be used to help the young women of Lowell and other communities which join in the movement," said Gen. Ames. "The idea is not a humorous one as first suggested. The women, trained in military drill, could through parades and public demonstrations stimulate recruiting. Besides that they would be of help as hospital aid, ambulance drivers, messengers, and in other ways as the situation of war develops upon this country."

Already at the State Guard headquarters the women's militia, which now claims Lowell as its birthplace, is being referred to generally as the "bloomer brigade." This name attached to the female organization when Miss Emma Leclair, its organizer, told Gen. Ames that the young women were debating whether they would wear skirts or bloomers.

Just what the State Guard is willing and able to do for the patriotic young women of Lowell is demonstrated in the following letter which he sent to the mayor of Lowell:

Oct. 2, 1917.

Hon. James E. O'Donnell, Mayor of Lowell, Mass.:

My Dear Mr. Mayor—I wish to acknowledge receipt of your open letter of Sept. 25th certifying that Miss Emma Leclair of 72 Cabot street, Lowell, Mass., has your permission to organize a company of militia girls for service in your city.

As you undoubtedly know, the enabling act for the State Guard, chapter 143, general acts of 1917, contemplated men only for enrollment in the State Guard.

The formation of the State Guard throughout the state has been perfected through the assistance of the public safety committees and the local town or city authorities. In fact, the local town or city authorities acting with the public safety committees have purchased rifles, clothing and equipment complete for State Guard companies.

A request, therefore, from a municipality applying through the mayor or board of aldermen or selectmen and approved by the public safety committee, will be complied with as far as possible by this headquarters.

If the board of aldermen and public safety committee of the city of Lowell make a request that we give any assistance within our power to a "Militia Girls' organization" such as you suggest, we will be glad to do so.

Very respectfully,
Butler Ames,
Major General Commanding.

ACCUSED OF PUTTING CROTON OIL IN FOOD

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—Two witnesses were heard yesterday afternoon in the municipal criminal court in the case of Frederick W. Kendrick, until recently head waiter for the Peltz & Vogel restaurant and saloon at 343 Washington street. He was arrested about two weeks ago by Inspectors Burr and Cronin on a charge of administering croton oil to Leopold H. Vogel, one of the proprietors. In food, and threatening bodily harm to Ralph H. Harrison, who is employed at the saloon. The case was continued until this morning, when other government witnesses were heard and Kendrick's story will be presented.

At the forenoon session Mr. Vogel testified that he had become very ill after having dinner at his saloon, that it was Kendrick who waited on him, and that croton oil was later found on Kendrick when arrested.

Dr. John S. H. Leard of Jamaica Plain later testified that he treated Vogel, who suffered much pain with cramps, and that on his advice two samples that had been found on the premises were examined and found to be croton oil, of which he said a large amount would kill.

At the afternoon session Harrison testified that he had heard he was to be given a beating by three men, and that Kendrick was supposed to have hired three men to do the beating. He said that he did not know why Kendrick should have been unfriendly to him, unless it was because he was jealous because he had a better job at the saloon. He said that Michael Miller, who works in the kitchen of the restaurant, had told him that Kendrick intended to get him.

Miller then testified that Kendrick told him it was being fixed up to give Harrison a beating. He said that he talked with Kendrick about the presence of the croton oil in the storeroom, and that Kendrick had told him that it was the same kind of stuff that the German spies used to kill horses.

Saturday, October 6th, is "Quarter Day" at The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank.

EVENING HIGH AND ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS OPEN FOR FALL AND WINTER TERM

The fall and winter term of the evening high and elementary schools opened last evening with a fairly large attendance. At the high school of the 769 pupils who had registered 629 reported, and about 150 who wished to register were advised to wait until this evening when registration will be held between the hours of 7 and 9. The elementary schools reported an attendance of 422. In the course of the evening Supt. Hugh J. Mulvey visited the various schools and he was much pleased with the manner in which registration went on.

ANDREW MOLLOY HONORED

Andrew Molloy, employed at the power house of the Bay State Street Railway company, who is soon to leave for Camp Devens at Ayer, was tendered a farewell dinner at the Harrington hotel last evening, the affair being attended by about 25 intimate friends. In the course of the evening the young man was presented a handsome wrist watch, the presentation address being delivered by Robert J. Thomas, who acted as master of ceremonies. A delightful entertainment program was given and at the close of the evening the following young men who had organized the event were warmly congratulated for the success of the evening: Frank Riley, Alfred Rogers and Charles Rogers.

GERMANS FIGHT DESPERATELY

Hurl Great Masses of Troops Against British Line in Flanders

Fiercest Fighting of War in Attempt to Save U-Boat Bases

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Powerful German attempts to shake the British line and divert the impending blow of Field Marshal Haig have brought on more intense fighting, but with no other result than absolute failure and frightful losses to the Kaiser's armies.

For 35 hours at short intervals masses of troops have charged the British front east of Ypres, along the Menin road, only to melt away and collapse under whirlwinds of British fire. No losses seem too large for London for the inevitable British drive. For his need is desperate. The climax of Britain's unbroken series of victories, which steadily rolled the Germans backward, seems to be at hand. One more successful drive will enable Haig's guns and armies to definitely shatter the U-boat supply line.

Ghent Cut Off by Airmen

Dispatches from Holland gathered by frontier correspondents that the allied air forces were playing havoc with the German railway communications and military establishments in Belgium.

On Sunday night, according to the telegraph, railway communication with Ghent was interrupted. Another correspondent says that a bridge was destroyed just before the arrival of a military train, the engine of which fell through the opening, derailing several cars, which were then bombed.

German Moved Down

Two more counter-attacks were attempted by the Germans against the British lines between the railroad station of Polygon Wood and the Menin road last night, reports the Associated Press correspondent, but, as in the case of three heavy assaults made during the night, the enemy was smashed by artillery and rifle fire.

Hard local fighting occurred at the place known as Cameron house, where the Germans yesterday forced the British back slightly, but with the exception of two small posts lost in this area, the British line was intact this morning.

Stinging Defeat For Teutons

The past 24 hours have been bitter ones for the enemy along the Ypres battle front. Not only have the Germans suffered stinging defeat, but this defeat has been accompanied by grievous losses in men. The tremendous fire to which they were subjected by the artillery, rifles and machine guns was a revelation even to those accustomed to watching the marvelous work of the great British war machine.

In the face of the immense strength of the British artillery, the Germans in their desperation essayed something which they must have known would result in reverses, unless some wholly unforeseen contingency arose. They gambled against great odds and they paid for it in blood.

South of the Menin road, in the neighborhood of the Tower Hamlets battleground, it was quiet during the night. North of the Ypres-Roulers railway the German artillery played heavily on the British front areas. The correspondent visited Westhoek ridge and the region near Zonnebeke where the artillery activity was intense.

Haig's Men Chase Fleeting Foe

British guns of all calibers were kept up their ceaseless thunder and for every German shell landed in this zone were hurled back scores.

There is no doubt that the punishment being dealt out to the Germans is tremendous. Every prisoner taken admits that and appears to be glad to be in the hands of the British.

Not only did the German mass attacks collapse but the British even gained ground as the result of one Teuton assault.

The principal result of three bitter attacks between dawn and mid-afternoon yesterday was the merciless shattering of the German tanks and a still further advance over the front south of Polygon Wood by the British, who pushed their line forward some hundred yards in depth behind the fleeing Germans.

The first assault was delivered at 6.15 this morning. The enemy advanced in three waves toward the British, but immediately met with such a fierce fire of rifles and artillery that he was compelled to retire.

It was apparent, however, that the Germans were not through with the attempt, and the big British guns poured loose such an avalanche of shells as is seldom seen along the front.

Faced Hurricane of Steel

At 8.10 o'clock, the Germans surged forward once more, and as in earlier attacks were turned back by the intense fire from their opponents. Meanwhile the British artillery upon the horizon was hurling a terrific bombardment, shaking the enemy miles back of the lines.

The German guns were not silent, and in the midst of the roar of the British artillery could be heard the detonations of heavy enemy shells.

It seemed impossible that another attempt would be made by the Germans in the face of such a hurricane of steel, but after a considerable rest they came forward once more. Again they broke and this time ran with the British in hot pursuit. The British did not pause until they reached a point not far from the rear of the line, where they rested and at latest reports were holding firmly.

Throughout the Fight German Airplanes Were Circling Low Over the British Line in an Attempt to Assist their Troops

Field Marshal Haig's Report

The very meagre official statement from Field Marshal Haig today on the operations in France and Belgium says:

"Beyond artillery activity on both sides on the battle front there is no special interest to report."

At midday this statement was issued:

"The latest reports show that yesterday and last night five separate attacks were made or attempted by the enemy with fresh troops upon the position of our new front between the Ypres-Menin road and the northeast corner of our Polygon Wood. Another south of the Ypres-Roulers railway against the position of Zonnebeke."

"Except for the loss of the two small advanced posts already reported, our attacks ended in complete failure. The enemy suffered severely in these attacks and gained no advantage."

"A hostile raiding party was repulsed with loss during the night south of Lens."

Fire Set by Airmen Seen 30 Miles

on the night of Sunday" says an official statement. "Naval aircraft dropped bombs on the St. Denis Western Airfield, which fell among the hangars and set fire to one on the south side. The fire spread and was visible 30 miles away. Bombs were also dropped on the Zeebrugge lock gates."

"Another bombing raid on St. Denis Western was made at midday Monday, seven direct hits being observed and also two sheds on fire. In the southeast corner of the airfield, a large shed on the south side of the airfield is reported having been set on fire Sunday. The hangars being completely ruined. All our machines returned safely."

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of Lowell Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, met last night in Harrington hall with Worthy President O'Keefe in the chair. The outing committee reported that the recent outing had been a success, both financially and socially.

Following are the names of the prize winners in the various athletic events, all of which were hotly contested: Hop, step and jump, Thomas, first; Pinnegan, second. High jump, Finnegan, first prize, 100-yards dash, Thomas, first; Pinnegan, second. Bat men's race, George Quinn, first and Fleming, second. The ball game between the married and single men was a hummer. Ed Reed pitched the ball for the married men, while "Pete" Cough went big as slab artist for the single fellows. In the ninth, with the score 4 to 1 in favor of the single lot for a home run, tying the score. The game was called at the end of men. Pitcher Reed came up with two on, and he clouted the ball out of the tenth on account of rain with the score 4 to 1.

The committee on building made a report which showed much progress had been made in the matter of permanent quarters for the use of the aerie.

FEWKESBURY WILL REIMBURSE CITY OF LOWELL IN THE SUM OF $824

The town of Tewksbury at a special meeting held Monday night voted to reimburse the city of Lowell to the extent of $824, which is the amount of the bill for the surgical attendance and pay of Capt. James Brosnan of the local police department, who was shot by Benjamin Buck at the plant of the Avery Chemical Co.

The Tewksbury police officials called on the Lowell department for assistance, when Buck was threatening the employees of the plant with a loaded revolver, and in the attempt to arrest the man Capt. Brosnan was shot in the face and left arm. The city of Lowell presented the town of Tewksbury a bill covering the items of surgical attendance and pay for Captain Brosnan.

Money deposited on or before Saturday, October 6th in The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank will bear interest from that date.

CHOOSE THE "ROYAL" ELECTRIC CLEANER

The main object to be obtained in an Electric Cleaner is to clean quickly and thoroughly. The Royal not only collects all dirt and litter on the surface of your rugs, but its concentrating, deep penetrating suction sucks out all deeply imbedded, ground in dirt and grit that cause greatest wear to floor coverings.

The more powerful suction of the Royal enables it to draw dirt out of rugs and carpets after other cleaners have drawn all that they possibly can. The Royal gets into every nook and corner—the inaccessible places that ordinary cleaners cannot reach.

And in the long run the Royal costs no more than an ordinary cleaner. Let us give you a free demonstration in your own home and explain our easy payment purchase plan.

Sale of Rare Antiques at Public Auction

TOMORROW, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 4TH, AT 2 P. M.

In the store located at the corner of Coral and Westford streets, we will commence the sale of a valuable collection of rare and antique goods, consisting of artist proofs, stoneware, old paintings, mirrors, tables, chairs, stands, tall clock of solid mahogany, hard to beat, china of various designs. One chair has been occupied by 16 governors of this commonwealth. Shovels and tongs, hellebore, warming pans, foot stoves, tin lanterns, candlesticks, spinning wheel, flax wheel, reels, tin-lock gun of revolutionary times, and many other articles too numerous to mention. No old junk.

Be on hand and see for yourself.

On exhibition Wednesday and day of sale.

On account of this store being located at the corner, on the line of the Highland and also Westford Street Railway, it is convenient and accessible locally.
